

Launch Big Viet Drive

US Troops Use Tear Gas To Rout Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. paratroopers launched a big new operation on the fringe of the Viet Cong's "D" zone and used non-lethal tear gas, a U.S. military spokesman said.

No further details were immediately available on the gas attack, but the spokesman said the American troops had made "significant contact" with the Viet Cong.

In a major change of policy, the field commander had been authorized before the operation to use nonlethal tear gas if he deemed it necessary. The object was to flush out the Viet Cong without wounding or killing non-combatants.

Thousands of American troops combed a densely jungled area about 30 miles north of Saigon. Australian forces supported the operation.

B52 bombers from Guam hammered the area twice before the U.S. ground offensive.

The paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade landed by helicopter and moved into the Viet Cong area in convoys along Highway 13, near the district capital of Ben Cat.

The spokesman gave no details on the fighting, but it was believed to have been heavy.

A personnel carrier hit a Viet Cong mine and overturned. Casualties were reported moderate.

The Americans also drew sniper fire as the convoy moved deeper into guerrilla territory.

Fire Destroys North Sedalia Residence

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the home of Delbert Arnold Sr., 804 West Henry street about 1:30 o'clock Friday morning. The residence was a mass of flames before fire companies arrived on the scene.

The fire was first discovered by Charles Roseman, 409 North Mill, James Mills, 309 East Pettis and Charles Clark, 516 North Montevue, who were driving on North Missouri avenue and saw the reflection of the flames. They drove in the direction of the fire and when they saw that no one was stirring around, ran to the front door and hammered on it, but it was locked. One ran around to the rear of the house and the back door was standing open as if someone had left by that door.

They said they called and made as much noise as possible but didn't hear anyone inside, then went to a next door neighbor's and awakened them. Roseman said they told some boys who drove by to go to the fire station and turn in a fire call.

The Fire Department received three alarms almost in succession at 1:34 o'clock, 1:37 and 1:38 o'clock. The West Sedalia fire truck arrived at the Grand Avenue crossing of the Missouri Pacific just as a freight train was passing through Sedalia and was delayed a short time until it had passed. After the train had passed a line of hose was laid out from a fire hydrant at Grand and Henry.

By the time the truck and firemen arrived on the scene the roof on the west portion of the house had already caved in and the entire downstairs area was a mass of flames. Two lines of leader hose were used to quench the flames.

Arnold arrived at the house about a half hour after the fire department and explained he and his grandson had been out to his daughter-in-law's home on East Third street. He said he knew nothing of the fire until he turned on Henry Street on his way back home.

He told firemen he had only a few days ago purchased about $500 worth of new furniture, and recently completed new cabinets, and re-roofed the residence this summer. Arnold said he had some insurance, but did not believe he had enough to cover his losses.

The fire department estimated the loss to the house at $6,000 and to the contents at $2,000.

Louis R. Hughes, Jr.

Kiwanis Club Elects Hughes As President

Louis R. Hughes, Jr., was elected president of the Sedalia Kiwanis club for 1966 at its meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon. During the current year he is serving as president-elect.

James D. Giokaris was elected to succeed Mr. Hughes in the position which is comparable to vice-president in other service clubs. Henry C. Salveter was reelected treasurer.

The following were chosen as directors: For 2 years, Virgil Dean, William A. Schien, William W. Dugan and Monty L. McQuitty; for one year, Henry A. Keeler, to fill the unfinished term of Mr. Giokaris.

Other members of the board are: J. F. Fritz, E. G. Kehde, Jr., Dr. T. J. Norris and John M. Sneed whose terms expire Dec. 31, 1965; and Adolph Glenn, P. Cecil Owen and John St. Clair whose terms expire Dec. 31, 1966.

The program was provided by Mrs. Donald Barnes, Sedalia vocalist, who sang six numbers from Broadway musical productions. Firmin Boul was her accompanist.

The program was arranged by Dan Robinson who introduced the participants.

President Robert Gardner reminded members of the Ladies night party planned for Nov. 4 at Whiteman Air Force Base; and the Sedalia Symphony concert on Oct. 18 which will be directed by Kiwanian Abe Rosenthal.

Invocation was by J. R. Fritz. Singing was led by Abe Rosenthal with Mrs. Lillian Maynard accompanist.

Gary White, Centralia

Select Counselor for Local Youth Training Program

Gary White, a young Centralia, Mo. man who is a 1965 graduate of Southern Illinois University, has been named youth counselor to administer a youth training and enrichment program here for disadvantaged young people primarily between the ages of 16 and 21.

The program, which runs through Sept. 30, 1966, is being carried out as a result of a $23,002 federal grant to Pettis County's Community Action Corporation for Economic Opportunity through the federal office of Economic Opportunity.

White's appointment was approved by the local EOA corporation, which is headed by C. Berry Elliott, presiding judge of the County Court. The youth counselor, who holds a degree in psychology, will maintain an office at the University of Missouri Extension Center, 605 South Massachusetts.

Pettis County's project outline quotes local employment office figures showing that 388 young people not in school under the age of 22 are unemployed here. At the present time 14.3 per cent of the boys and girls age 14 to 17 are not in school, there are 456 welfare ADC children, 33.2 per cent of the families have less than $3,000 annual income and of the 6,767 young people, age 8 through 20, 331 are Negro, the outline says.

Health conditions of these low-income families are considered sub-standard and a definite need for better personal appearance and cleanliness is cited. Children have indicated they feel out of place in society and want to be more socially acceptable.

Freedom Trek By Refugees

First Group Talks Of Mass Movement From Cuba to US

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The arrival of the first Cuban refugees under Fidel Castro's open-door policy has sparked talk of a freedom flotilla crossing the Florida Straits from Cuba.

Exiles in Miami's Cuban colony say that some boats already have left Miami for Cuba 90 miles away, but that could not be confirmed. Officials were skeptical that the U.S. government would allow any massive movement of small boats.

Cuba's Communist government reportedly is working hard to prepare the port at Camariaca, the one closest to Florida, as an exit station.

Bartolome Julian Rosales, who brought the first group to Florida Thursday in a 25-foot boat, said a barracks stocked with food had been set up at the port.

The usually reliable Cuban exile news service AIP said cabins are being built at the port, and the port channel is being deepened.

The Cuban government has sent telegrams to exiles with preliminary instructions on how to get relatives out to Cuba. The telegrams, sent to exiles who requested information, ask the refugees to cable the names and descriptions of their boats and wait for authorization.

Authorities are disturbed over the possibility of a "Dunkirk of the Florida Straits." That, they said, would be contrary to the orderly process described by President Johnson when he accepted Prime Minister Castro's offer to let anyone leave for the United States.

Rosales, who has lived in Miami three years, said he telephoned his wife in Cuba after he heard of Castro's offer. She arranged with the Cuban government for her exit, he said.

He left Key West Tuesday and picked up his wife, their daughter, his 84-year-old mother and others. The group, 15 in all, docked at Marathon in the Keys Thursday.

Previously the straits had been guarded so closely by Soviet-built Cuban torpedo boats that the passage had been named "Death Corridor" by the refugees.

Exiles estimated that 50,000 Cubans are waiting to leave their homeland, but have been unable to get visas or transportation. About 300,000 Cubans have fled since Castro seized power in 1959.

MIAMI, FLA. — A Cuban refugee worker hands out forms to waiting Cubans today at the Miami Cuban Refugee Emergency Center. The forms are asking for information concerning those relatives still on the island of Cuba. Refugees here are hopeful of getting their relatives out of Cuba since Castro's offer to let them go. Hold Son, 15 In Slaying Of Mother

Boy And Companion Linked to Deaths Of Mother, Sister

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt. (AP) — Two Connecticut youths — aged 14 and 15 — were held today in the slaying of the mother and sister of one of them.

They were captured Thursday night after a state trooper spotted them at a traffic light and followed them to a roadside restaurant in the country village of Chester, on the outskirts of Bellows Falls.

Police said Roger Beaudry Jr., 15, and James McCann, 14, surrendered without a struggle after Trooper Gerald Lefevre called for aid.

Officials said they were suspects in the shooting of Beaudry's mother, Ella Beaudry, 42, and his sister, Roberta, 11. The bodies were found late Wednesday in their Cheshire, Conn., home by Roger Beaudry Sr., husband and father of the victims. Both had been shot in the head.

The boys were not armed, police said, but four guns were found in the car trunk.

The fathers of the boys said they had never been in serious trouble.

The shootings apparently took place while dinner was being prepared, police said.

A partly assembled bicycle was found in the basement. Police said the slain girl won it in a contest and that the family had picked it up the day she was killed.

Mrs. Beaudry's body was (Please turn to page 5, col. 7)

Tempel-Callison Bid On University Work Is Lowest Received

Bids were opened Thursday at the University of Missouri on the construction of an addition to complete a feed mill on the University's South Farm, southeast of the main campus.

The Tempel-Callison Co., Sedalia, submitted a bid of $102,350 on the complete construction of the addition, and a bid of $91,850 on the construction exclusive of electrical work. Huffman Brothers Lumber Co., Steele, Mo., submitted a bid of $122,189 on the complete construction, a bid of $111,589 on the construction exclusive of electrical work, and a bid of $13,800 on the electrical work alone. United American Construction Co., Inc., St. Louis, submitted a bid of $136,900 on the complete construction, and a bid of $125,900 on the construction exclusive of electrical work.

Slam Into a Train

CLINTON, Mo. (AP)—Three men were injured today when their truck hit a Rock Island freight train at the Post Oak crossing in southern Johnson County.

The victims, all hospitalized here, were Dayton Wright, 26, Collings, Mo., driver of the pickup truck; Lawrence Wagoner, 40, Blairtown, Mo., and Charles Matlock, 30, Deepwater, Mo.

All suffered chest injuries and lacerations.

The Highway Patrol said that crossing has averaged one accident a month.

Matt O. Green, III Family Chosen

Name Rural Sedalia Family To American Royal Honors

Matt O. Green, III, his wife, Barbara, and their two children, Teri Ann, 7, and Matt O., IV, 4, have been named Missouri American Royal Family of the year for 1965.

The Greens will be honored on Tuesday, Oct. 19, which is Missouri Day at the American Royal in Kansas City.

The Missouri American Royal Family is chosen each year in co-operation with the Extension service of the University of Missouri, from among farmers who are enlisted in the balanced farming program. The program is sponsored by the University.

The family selected is chosen as typical of the progressive farmers in the state.

Green started farming in 1954 as a partner of his father. He now farms alone and in recent years has been increasing the size of his farming operation.

In 1962 the Greens purchased a 400-acre farm that is kept in pasture for his cow herd. In 1963 they bought 362 acres of the family farm.

'No Complications' In LBJ Operation

One-Third Mark In UF Drive

Officials Post First Returns On Campaign Progress

Officials of the Sedalia-Pettis County United Fund posted their first figures Friday morning on the progress of the campaign which opened Monday. Reported were contributions to date of $26,109.

Representing about one-third of the United Fund goal of $79,836, the figure was revealed to the public as Postmaster Maurice F. Hogan painted in the lower third of the UF hog on the courthouse lawn and posted the amount on the hog's feeding trough.

On hand as the first progress report of the campaign was made were Jim Reed, president of the United Fund board of directors; Robert Beykirch, board vice president; and Hank Monsees, executive director of the campaign.

The United Fund hog was erected by east Sedalia fireman J. D. Bunch and the animal's body will chart the progress of the campaign. As percentage milestones in the drive are reached, Hogan will paint that portion of the hog in red paint. A solid red hog will denote a successful campaign and fulfill the United Fund theme of fattening up the hog.

Majority of the amount of receipts posted Friday was gathered in the advance gifts campaign, officials said. Solicitations of local businesses and industries are now earnestly in progress.

Minimum Wage Bill Is Dead for Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to increase the minimum wage and extend its coverage is dead for the year.

Democrats on the House Education and Labor Committee decided Thursday not to press for action when the chairman, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., couldn't get agreement on a scaled-down bill.

The committee had approved a bill to raise the current $1.25-an-hour minimum to $1.75 and extend coverage to 7.9 million workers. There was little support for the measure elsewhere in Congress, and a more modest bill failed to win committee agreement.

Powell said the committee will try again next year, holding hearings and then drafting a new bill.

Absentee Voting Adds Edge For Somerville

Republican Ronald L. Somerville, of Chillicothe, increased his winning edge over Dick B. Dale, Democratic candidate, as counting of absentee ballots cast in Tuesday's special 16th Senatorial District election was completed here Thursday.

Somerville received 95 absentee votes, while Dale had 21.

In winning the senate vacancy, Somerville had carried Pettis County by 48 votes — 1,045 to 997 — in the regular voting Tuesday.

Counting the absentee ballots Thursday in the office of County Clerk J. H. Green were these judges: Mrs. Leo Greene and Val Clark, Democrats; Mrs. H. G. Berger and Mrs. Mildred Waters, Republicans.

Moon Shot Failure By Soviet Union

LONDON (AP) — Another Soviet attempt to make a soft landing on the moon has apparently failed, the director of Britain's big Jodrell Bank radio telescope said today after signals from Luna 7 stopped.

Sir Bernard Lovell said all the evidence indicated that the unmanned Soviet moon rocket had destroyed itself on hitting the moon.

Lovell said signals from Luna 7 stopped at 5:08 p.m. (EST) Thursday, the time the Russians had said the space vehicle would hit the moon.

"It is impossible to do more than guess at what, if anything, has gone wrong," he said, adding that the possibility that there might be an instrument package on the moon which survived the crash could not be excluded.

"But at the moment, if there should be, we have received no signal from it," Sir Bernard said. "We should be surprised if (the Russians) announced that there was anything but a crash landing."

More than eight hours later there had been no word from Tass, the Official Soviet news agency, or Moscow radio. A Tass editor in Moscow said he had no information on Luna 7 and did not know when he would. This is normal procedure when Soviet space shots fail to accomplish their objective.

The Russians never announced the mission of Luna 7, but it was assumed to be a soft landing — one in which the space vehicle would remain intact and radio back information about the moon's surface. This is a key step toward landing a man on the moon.

The Soviet Union tried a soft landing at least twice before Luna 7.

President In 'Mild Discomfort'

Operation Success Termed Beautiful And As Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson had his gall bladder operation today—pronounced "routine" in performance and a "complete success" in outcome.

Three hours later an aide reported Johnson was "doing well" and in his opinion able to make any presidential decisions that might be necessary.

The estimate of the President's capability came from press secretary Bill D. Moyers. He was not making a point of it — only responding to a newsman's question.

Moyers said the President was experiencing mild discomfort as would any patient recovering from a gall bladder operation, and there had been no change in estimates he would be hospitalized 10 to 14 days.

The operation, requiring 2 hours and 15 minutes, went "Beautifully and as expected," one of the doctors reported.

The surgical team did find and remove a kidney stone in the ureter as well as removing the faulty gall bladder.

The ureter is a passage through which urine is voided. Johnson was in the operating room from 7 a.m., EDT, to 9:15.

Moyers reported that Johnson began to emerge from an anesthetic sleep less than an hour after the surgery by a medical team enlisted in part from the famed Mayo Clinic.

He said he had talked with the President about 11 a.m.

Moyers said the doctors told (Please turn to page 5, col. 3)

United Fund Board Plans Awards Fete

The Board of the Sedalia-Pettis County United Fund met Thursday morning at the Bothwell Hotel, with 14 members present. Jim Reed, president, presided. Reed reported the appointment of an Awards Committee composed of Eva Evans, chairman, Paul Jensen, Don Feeback, Shirley Wagner and Mrs. Charles Van Dyne, as members.

It was explained by Reed that the purpose of the committee is to set up an awards banquet for divisions that meet the goals set, and to set standards for awards.

It was noted that firms giving 100 per cent might not necessarily make the goals set, as the stress would be on "Fair Share" giving, this being one hour's pay per month for salaried people, and one per cent for those making up to ten thousand, and two per cent for those earning above this figure. "Fair Share" for corporate gifts would be set at a later time.

Harry Kull, Campaign Chairman, reported that it was too early to tell much about the campaign, except that the Advanced Gifts had done well under the direction of Mrs. Harold Dean, Chairman of the Advanced Division.

Mrs. Dean reported that 30 per cent of the goal has been reached through advanced gifts. She said there was some clean-up to be done, and that complete success depended upon seeing every one that desired to make a gift. Omer West, Chairman of the Industrial Division reported that of the 24 industries in this division all but two had cooperated.

In Teen-Age Contest

DALLAS, Tex., (AP)—A Missouri girl, Lana Jean Downs, 16, of Booneville, Mo., has been selected as one of seven at-large candidates to compete in the fifth annual Miss Teen-Age America Pageant Oct. 23-29.

Representatives from 53 other cities will compete with the at-large candidates. The selections were made Thursday.

NAMED THE AMERICAN Royal Missouri Farm Family for 1965 are Matt O. Green, III, his wife, Barbara, and their two children, Matt O., IV, 4 years old, and Teri Ann, 7. The Greens live on a farm near Sedalia. The family will be honored at various functions in Kansas City Tuesday, Oct. 19, which is Missouri Day at the American Royal this year. Dates of the American Royal are October 15 through 23.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: My father-in-law has been a widower since 1955. We hoped he would marry one of the fine women he had been taking out because soon he will be 60 years of age.

Last night he brought over a knock-kneed blonde who wore white lipstick, no eyebrows, and a red dress cut down to her navel. His first words were, "Meet the wife." My husband almost passed out. Finally he said, "Are you Dizzy Doris?" She giggled and answered, "Yes, but you can call me Mother."

Ann, my husband used to go to school with that girl. She is two years younger than he is. He couldn't stand her then and he doesn't want her in our house now. I'm trying to keep peace in the family. Please help me.

—BE-FUDDLED

Dear B: Since Doris is obviously your father-in-law's choice, Dizzy though she may be, you should both accept her.

Keep the relationship on an invitation-only basis. Follow the directions on the jar of salad dressing. "Keep cool, but don't freeze."

Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl 17. Last Sunday our preacher's sermon was on teen-age drinking. He asked all teen-agers to come to the front of the church and swear before God that they would not drink liquor before they reached their 21st birthday.

I do not drink and I don't plan to—even after I am 21—but I didn't feel like going up there in front of all those people.

Last night four kids who took the oath bought a bottle of whiskey and got loaded after a ball game. I was disgusted with them. They will all be in church Sunday like nothing happened.

This morning my mother said she was disappointed in me because I didn't take the oath. She wants me to do it tomorrow. I don't want to. What is your opinion?—NO HYPOCRITE.

Dear No: The only thing about an oath that matters is whether or not you keep it. Some people need an incentive—like a public declaration. Others need nothing except a strong set of convictions.

If you don't feel comfortable about taking the oath, don't do it. From the tone of your letter I'd bet my bottom dollar on you—oath or no oath.

Dear Ann Landers: You won't print my letter because it goes against your advice which is O.K. for light reading but people can't live by it.

After 18 years of marriage I was bored with my wife, the kids, my in-laws and our Tuesday night bridge game. I met a young woman who made me feel like I had some red blood in my veins. We managed to get together four nights a week. We took some nice little trips.

Some big mouth told my wife. She made it plain she wasn't going to break up our home just because I was off my nut. She said she hoped I regained my senses before the kids got wind of what was going on. After a few months the fire was out. When I told my wife her only comment was, "It's about time."

I know now I'll never step out again. My wife handled it just right. She didn't throw a fit or nag me, she just let me run out my string. Now everyone is happy and no one was hurt. So you see, I DO have a point. Don't I?—BUSTER.

Dear Buster: Yes, you've got a point but if you comb your hair over to the side it may not show.

O.K. So your wife didn't slash her wrists. That doesn't mean she didn't agonize plenty. You are lucky to have a woman who had the strength and courage to ride out the storm. Luckier than you deserve.

"Wait" Has Been a Long One

We are in accord with Mayor L. L. Studer's proposal asking the Traffic Advisory Committee to investigate the timing of the pedestrian and traffic control lights at the busy downtown intersection, Third street and Ohio avenue.

The mayor reports he has received many complaints especially from elderly citizens that the "Walk" period is too short and the "Wait" period too long.

We might say the "Wait" period has been much too long awaiting action on the deficiency, attention to which was directed in this column as far back as January 26. It was mentioned then that elderly persons are not able to and should not be expected to jump across the intersection like rabbits or grasshoppers before the lights changed. Moreover, a plea was made for patience by pedestrians because the traffic experts were studying the problem and might at an early date modify the timing device of the signals. It's been a long wait!

In the meantime what has happened since last January? Month by month pedestrians have been progressively disregarding the "Wait" signals. Women with children step right out into the street after shifty glances to see if all is clear. They seem oblivious to the peril of getting knocked down by a vehicle making a right turn. Some even let toddlers tag along behind without clasping their arm as though to dare any motorists to strike their child. Of course no motorist will, purposely. But what about accidentally?

Because the pedestrian regulations are so flagrantly violated by so many the practice is becoming habitual and persistent. It is interesting to watch the indecisive ones at the intersection finally influenced to step into the streets against the lights because they see others doing it. As we have said before this is not an instructive example set by adults for teenagers either in the matter of obeying laws or practicing safety.

Sedalians hope the traffic light problem at Third street and Ohio avenue will ultimately be resolved. It has been a perplexing one there ever since the days of the trolley cars and horse drawn vehicles.

Now that the mayor is prodding the traffic advisory committee for some solution, may we say again as we did eight months ago, pedestrians do be patient; not only patient while the experts work out a better timing formula, but also patient at the curb line awaiting the proper signal to cross the intersection in safety. Poverty Program Plagued by Pilferers

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—A few unscrupulous promoters and politicians have been playing politics with poverty, sometimes fattening their own wallets with funds that were supposed to go to the poor.

Not only have war-on poverty workers been turning in outrageous expense vouchers, but some doctors have been pocketing exorbitant fees for examining impoverished children. Anti-poverty czar Sargent Shriver has ordered a crackdown.

The worst scandal is about to blow wide open in New York City where Haryou-Act, the joint federal-city agency to combat poverty, has overdrawn its bank account by $207,000 and run up another $200,000 in unpaid bills.

Shriver rushed a $400,000 retroactive appropriation to New York City to save the program from collapse and sent in federal auditors to examine the ledgers. But District Attorney Frank Hogan stepped in ahead and subpoenaed the books. He has already found serious irregularities.

Complaints have also come in from neighborhood youth corps centers in the southwest, midwest and northwest that youths from well-to-do homes have been given the part-time jobs that were supposed to go to the needy.

Poverty and Patronage

Mayor Howard Heinz of Carlisle, Ill., told investigators frankly that he thought the youth corps jobs were supposed to be handed out as political patronage.

Shriver's sleuths are now checking similar complaints of patronage in the Chicago anti-poverty program.

Tomorrow's Oil

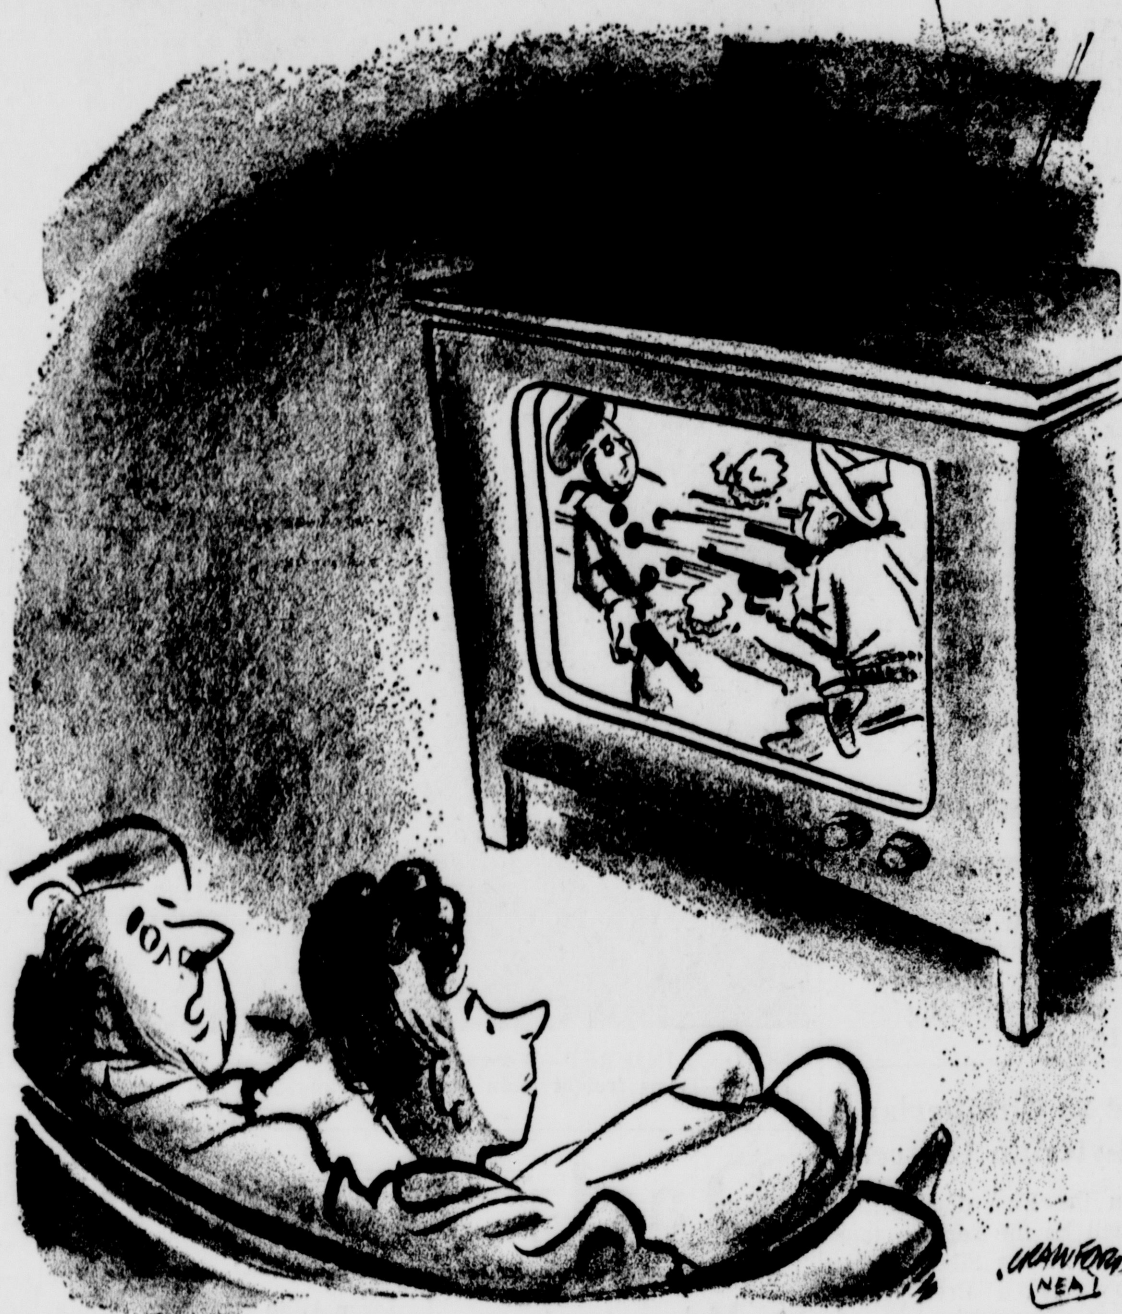

Man's search for a continuing supply of oil is one of the more thrilling suspense stories of our lifetime. It continues and there are many more suspenseful developments yet to come.

At present, Libya, in North Africa, is the fastest growing oil producer. Exports average 1.2 million barrels a day. Attention now is centering on the North Sea and this may be the next great discovery area. Undersea areas offer geologists a promising new hunting ground.

Twelve offshore platforms are going up in the North Sea. The Cook Inlet of Alaska, the Gulf of Mexico, the California and Australian shelves are ticketed for further attention.

It is estimated that one of every two South Americans lives in Brazil.

The World Today

Long Line of Klan Probe Witnesses

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Almost daily now, the witnesses come down the dim marble corridor of the old House Office Building and enter the door marked "Committee on Un-American Activities."

There, in an inner conference room, they face the members of a subcommittee laying the groundwork for public hearings aimed at unmasking the Ku Klux Klan.

Most of the witnesses come under subpoena. Most are considered hostile. Some won't talk. But some do.

"The minute I walk into these hearings it is like entering another world," observed the committee's senior Republican, John M. Ashbrook of Ohio. "You enter an eerie world where guns, beatings, exhortations to violence, hate, arson, bombings, shootings, blacklists, sugar in gas tanks, night rides, become commonplace."

It is this eerie world that Chairman Edwin E. Willis, a Democrat from Louisiana's bayou country, intends to bring into the light.

When Willis announced the Klan investigation on March 30, he said public hearings would begin in a couple of months. But as the months flipped past without hearings, there were charges the committee was dragging its feet.

Now the hearings are scheduled to begin in about 10 days and the committee reportedly has more witnesses than it can use — 200 or more.

The list is so long that if it isn't cut, one source said, the hearings could go on for 13 weeks.

"It is unbelievable to review all of the evidence we have so far," says Ashbrook.

The committee, using the same techniques it employs in investigations of alleged Communist activities, reportedly had trouble at first locating insiders willing to talk about the invisible empire.

Since then, the committee is said to have heard testimony from men who have had a hand in bombings and night rides and have, says Ashbrook, convinced about a dozen Klansmen to cooperate with the investigation.

To shield witnesses from retribution, Willis intends to use the subpoena power which extends to each the protection of federal law for five years. Another problem has been what pattern to use in conducting the hearings — whether to divide them into alleged incidents of violence, to explore the Klan state by state, or to pinpoint individually the activities of each of the dozen or more Klan organizations.

The decision is understood to be for the committee to take up the Klans one by one — leading off with the biggest, Robert Shelton's United Klans of America, estimated to have grown to 50,000 members.

Deer, Car Collide

LIMERICK, Maine (AP) — A deer and a state police cruiser collided outside this southern Maine village. The trooper radioed for help in an upside down position.

Trooper Gerald J. Smith, 25, Limerick, said he was driving along Maine 5 when the deer jumped into the left side of the cruiser.

In swerving, the vehicle hit the soft shoulder and rolled over onto its top. A motorist stopped to help Smith extricate himself. The trooper sustained a wrenched shoulder. The deer ran off.

We the Women

Women Live Longer With Man Around House

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

News item: "An actuarial study, among more than a million wives and widows, indicates a woman's life expectancy is significantly better when her husband also is living."

And why not? Think of all the things a married woman lets her husband worry about. A woman with a man around the house doesn't have to struggle with tax forms. She just claims she can't understand what it's all about and lets George do the worrying and the figuring. A woman without a husband has to worry with all such financial matters.

A woman with a husband does not sleep with one ear alert for strange noises that should be investigated. If she does hear something she nudges her husband and tells him to go investigate.

A woman who has a man around isn't constantly nagged by needed household repairs. She tells her husband the faucet is dripping or the roof is leaking and leaves it up to him either to attempt a do-it-yourself repair job or to hire someone to do it.

A woman with a husband does not even have to worry about whom to vote for — if she does not want to. She can wait until her husband decides for her, as many more wives actually do than would dream of admitting it.

A married woman does not have to worry about how she is going to get to and from an evening party. Her husband may go under protest, but he'll go.

A woman with a husband does not have to take full responsibility for big decisions. She can always share the decision making with her husband — and the blame if things go wrong.

A woman with a husband, if he is worth having, doesn't have to worry about what the years have done and are doing to her looks. She knows the most important person in the world likes her "as is," so why worry about a few wrinkles?

Considering all the things a woman with a man doesn't have to worry about, it's no wonder she has a greater life expectancy than a woman without one. And on top of all that, she's GOT to go on living because a married woman always thinks her husband couldn't get along without her.

Why Hunt Lost Slippers?

DEAR POLLY — When preparing punch for a large crowd I mix a small amount (four to six quarts) in advance and freeze it in plastic containers. On the party day I make the rest of the punch and use these frozen blocks instead of ice so the last cup of punch will be as strong as the first — MRS. I. N.

12 Tons of Elephant

By CYRENE DEAR

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The largest animal known to have walked the earth since prehistoric times stands inside the Mall at the Smithsonian, Museum of Natural History.

Once alive, he is now stuffed. During the recent bicentennial of the Smithsonian, the big game hunter who bagged the 24,000 pound elephant came to Washington to see his old friend.

The hunt began 6:20 a.m., November 13, 1955, when the huge elephant was sighted in a water-hole in southeastern Angola by J. J. Fenykovi, a Madrid engineer. With a .416 caliber rifle, which uses three inch shells, he hit the beast four times first try. But despite these wounds and much bleeding the animal kept moving, and was tracked by natives and the game hunter until 5 p.m., when five more shots brought him down.

First, the animal's skin was removed in one piece. It weighed 2½ tons. The ivory tusks weighed 200 pounds each and the skull 1,800 pounds. He was hauled by truck over 800 miles to the nearest village, and then by rail to Lobito, the nearest seaport. Decaying was prevented by salting. From Lobito the huge animal was taken by boat to Lisbon, then by train to Madrid, and eventually shipped to this country, where two Smithsonian taxidermists spent sixteen months putting him back together again and filling him with 22,000 pounds of clay.

Mr. Fenykovi believes there are even larger elephants in Africa. This one measured 13 feet, 2 inches high at the shoulder, the highest of known record. He could have been 100 years old.

Elephants continue to be hunted in Africa and other places but the ivory traders only want their tusks and do not bother measuring them.

Tourists visiting the Smithsonian marvel that this enormous creature was once alive. Were it not for the plaque at his feet, most persons would think he was fake.

He knew that American pre-empt was never good hands and decided to try for a sure profit by setting the three-spade contract.

He opened a club and eventually the defense made one club, one spade and three cards in the red suits. East was down one for a loss of only 200 points.

Death Toll Is Down

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic accidents in the nation in August killed 4,740 persons, about 2 per cent below the 4,840 fatalities reported in August last year, the National Safety Council said today.

him the operation was "routine." He said there was no cardiac irregularity at all and that the President's blood pressure remained normal throughout.

During the operation, Mrs. Johnson and daughter Luci, 18, remained in the bedroom across the hall from the President's.

A general anesthetic was used.

The medical estimate was that the President should remain in the hospital for 10 days to two weeks.

As is customary in abdominal surgery, there will be an early effort to get the patient to take a few steps and maintain muscle tone. The first may come before the day is out.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, acting under arrangements made by the President, took over as standby chief executive of the nation.

A few minutes after the surgery, Moyers gave the word to newsmen that the operation was over and said the President was "resting well in the operating suite."

He said the gall bladder was removed and found to contain a stone. Another stone was found in the ureter and also was removed.

He said Johnson was recovering normally.

Moyers' statement that a stone was also located in the ureter means a kidney stone was also found in addition to a gallstone.

The ureter is a tube leading from the kidney for the passage of urine to the outside of the body.

No mention of the possibility of a kidney stone had been made in previous discussions of the President's current illness.

But the President has a history of kidney stones, having had two of them removed over the years — one by surgery and another one by manipulation at a different time.

Manipulation means that the kidney stone in that particular case was removed without opening the body surgically. The stone in that instance was probably removed by probing into the urinary tract from outside without actually opening the body.

Johnson had a kidney stone removed by surgery in 1955, the same year he had his heart attack. The stone that was removed by manipulation occurred in 1948.

Moyers said Dr. James Cain informed him that "everything went, in his words, beautifully and as expected. The President is resting well in his room."

While both kidney stones and gall stones are formed from materials precipitated out of body fluids, doctors say that ordinarily they don't consider the two kinds of stones related.

First word that the surgery had actually been carried out had come earlier from Joseph Laitin, assistant press secretary who made his announcement at 7:52 a.m.

The damage judgment for all parties involved amounted to $36,500, the total which was turned over to the clerk by the power cooperative.

Police Officer Sees Son Killed

NEW YORK (AP) — Police Sgt. William Hofaker, on patrol in Brooklyn, saw a speeding car hit a boy and drag his body six blocks.

When the body was thrown loose, Hofaker saw the dead boy was wearing new skating boots. "My God, that looks like one of my kid's shoes," Hofaker said. It was his son, Robert, 13.

of Agriculture. Mrs. Green has a degree in education from Central Missouri State college.

Among honors to be accorded the Green family on Missouri Day in Kansas City is presentation of a plaque by Roderick Turnbull, chairman of Missouri American Royal Farm Family activities, at the Kansas City Sertoma club luncheon. The family will attend the matinee performance of the Royal Horse show that afternoon and will sit in the President's box. That evening, they will attend the annual 4-H Club convention banquet at the Muehlebach hotel. The family also will receive $100 credit in shopping privileges, given by the Kansas City Downtown Merchants association.

The Greens have a 100-cow Angus herd which are crossed with Charolais. The result is calves which are considerably heavier than purebred.

In addition to calves from the cow herd, Green usually buys 75 head of feeder calves. The calves are carried through the winter on silage and then fed out in early summer.

In the hog operation, Green farrows and markets more than 1,000 hogs a year. Much of the grain in the livestock feeding is produced on the farm.

Future plans call for increasing the cattle herd and cutting down on hogs. The hogs require too much labor, Green says.

The cow herd will be increased as the grass on the farm is improved, Green says. With his grass production this year, Green says he could be carrying twice as many cows. He does have plans of going to a cow herd of 175. The herd is being built up as he saves replacement heifers.

Harvesting of grass seed has become a large part of the farm business for the Greens. This year they harvested 30,000 lbs. of Fescue; 10,000 lbs. of Southland Brome; and 5,000 lbs. of Orchard grass.

Although this was an exceptional year for grass production, grass seed production was somewhat lower, Green said. He has 400 acres of Fescue and he says it is hard to beat as a year around grass. The cow herd sits kept on it all year.

The truck was undamaged.

No one was injured in an accident at 16th and Quincy at 6:19 p. m. Thursday.

A 1956 Ford, driven by Robert D. Chancellor, 37, 405 East Booneville, was in collision with a 1965 Chevrolet, driven by Helen Louise Rodick, 53, 1420 State Fair Blvd.

Damage was to the left front of the Ford and to the right front of the Chevrolet.

The intersection of Fourth and Lafayette was the scene of a two-car collision at 5:10 p. m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1952 Dodge, driven by Clyde R. Hall, 50, 315 East Third, and a 1964 Pontiac, driven by Arthur D. Tabor, 61, Springfield.

The right front of the Tabor car and the front of the Hall auto were damaged.

Magistrate Court

A second continuance of a preliminary hearing was granted in Magistrate Court Friday morning for two Kansas City women accused here of stealing over $50 in connection with a shoplifting incident on Sept. 23.

Terry Ann White, 20, and Mary J. Evans, 36, are free on $5,000 bail bonds arranged through the Bradshaw Bonding Company. They are now scheduled for appearance in court on Oct. 15.

Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said the continuance was granted after Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz received a call from the women's defense attorney, who stated he would be unable to be in court for the hearing.

Police arrested the pair and said items found inside of the trunk of the car they were driving were identified as having come from the Tempo Store in Thompson Hills Shopping Center. Items were valued at $178.72.

Damage awards paid in a power line condemnation case in Circuit Court brought by the Central Electric Power Cooperative were paid in to Circuit Clerk Bryan Howe Friday morning and are now available to property owners.

The damage judgment for all parties involved amounted to $36,500, the total which was turned over to the clerk by the power cooperative.

Police reported early Friday morning that pranksters had scattered toilet tissue in the 1300 block of East Broadway and also on a car in the 100 block of East Fifth.

Top Soil Bargain

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — When city officials imported rich farm top soil for the new Civic Center lawn they got more than they bargained for.

The sproutings seemed long and broad for fine grass, and a sampling proved they were fresh green onions. Hundreds of them are flourishing in the new lawn.

Special Show By Comedy Trio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The variety show, like the Western and the situation comedy, is a standard form of television entertainment. It invariably contains a certain quantity of song, a couple of production numbers by the dancers, two or more sketches and usually a monologue.

The entertainment value built into this woefully familiar format depends entirely upon the quality of ingredients. Thus, the use in almost equal parts of three engaging, talented fellows insured the success of Thursday night's CBS program with the forthright title of "The Andy Griffith-Don Knotts-Jim Nabors Special."

Griffith sparked in a number of his easy-going stories that wind up with a little moral lesson. His version of Julius Caesar's unhappy demise was a small classic.

Knotts had a funny monologue about two bickering astronauts bored by being too long in each other's company.

But the bright star of the hour was Jim Nabors, who got away from his usual "Gomer Pyle" role long enough to sing some popular songs in his rich voice and even do some thoroughly acceptable dancing.

There were periods when the trio climbed back into their familiar television roles. Griffith and Knotts went into their uniforms as the Mayberry law enforcers in a weak sketch that telegraphed its windup. Nabors had a number in which he played his familiar Marine character. These were not the show's happiest moments.

The idea of the special had its beginning when the trio teamed up for a nightclub appearance. They worked so nicely together Thursday night that there must be room for more. Nabors particularly should be seen more often out of uniform.

Hugh Downs, 10 pounds lighter and sporting a neatly trimmed Van Dyke beard, will be back on his two NBC shows, "Today" and "Concentration," after three and one-half months sailing a 65-foot ketch from Florida to Tahiti.

Twins' Confidence Soars After 2nd Series Victory

Twins Harbor Wishes For Four-Game Series Sweep

By The Associated Press

Brimming with confidence after beating the Dodgers' fearsome pitching pair of Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax, the victorious Minnesota Twins expressed onfidene today they can add nemesis Claude Osteen to their list of victims when the World Series resumes Saturday in Los Angeles.

Halfway to the World Championship after beating Koufax 5-1 at Minnesota Thursday on top of their opening 8-2 defeat of Drysdale, the Twins were even dreaming of a four-game sweep, predicted earlier by Los Angeles General Manager Buzzie Bavasi—but by the Dodgers.

Schools Renew Rivalry

Colorado, OSU Play Top Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unbeaten but once tied Colorado faces Oklahoma State at Boulder in the top game in the Big Eight football title chase Saturday. Missouri should keep its perfect league record against Kansas State at Columbia while unbeaten Nebraska is favored to roll past Wisconsin at Lincoln.

Improved Iowa State is expected to make a strong bid for its first Big Eight victory since 1963 against Kansas at Lawrence in the other league game.

The Jayhawks are hungry for their first victory this season.

Oklahoma faces top-ranked Texas at Dallas and unless the young Sooners pull an amazing upset, the "Big Eight" must be content with a 1-1 split for the day against outside teams.

The winner of the Colorado-Oklahoma State battle will be in strong position for at least a first division finish. Both teams were much improved last week and it should be a hard-hitting game. Colorado probably has the edge on offense, with its stable of talented young backs.

Pat Culpepper, Colorado assistant who is a former Texas linebacker, said OSU and Colorado "are gonna be just like a herd of cows in a hailstorm... they're gonna be getting hit from all directions."

Eddie Crowder, Colorado coach, said "We are very close now to becoming a polished offensive unit. Several times we were very close to breaking the long gainer."

Colorado could take a 3-0 league record to Nebraska Oct. 23.

Missouri has too much offense for K-State, regardless of whether quarterback Gary Lane is ready. The blocking of tackles Francis Peay and Butch Allison was outstanding in the impressive Minnesota victory.

Second-ranked Nebraska has too many guns for Wisconsin.

The Huskers have capable replacements for two injured men, defensive end Langston Coleman and halfback Ron Kirkland. Wisconsin upset Iowa 16-13 last week, owns a good passer in Chuck Burt and a strong defense. The Badgers have never lost to a Big Eight team.

Kansas hopes for effective offense depend on how long quarterback Bob Skahan can go on his twice-injured leg. He's the team's best runner. Iowa State has two outstanding running backs in Les Webster and Tony Baker. Tim Van Galder is an effective passer.

Oklahoma has scored only one touchdown in two games, that on a pass. The sophomore Sooners have looked good only in spots. Texas has more of everything and OU will have to take advantage of every break to have a chance.

North Dakota Retains Hold On First Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Dakota State's high-scoring Bison are still on top of The Associated Press' small college football poll today but that rumbling noise in third place is coming from another powerhouse.

San Diego State, averaging almost 43 points per game for its three victories, received four first-place votes, only one less than top-ranked North Dakota State, and moved up one notch from fourth place.

The No. 1 Bisons insured their spot with a 41-13 romp over South Dakota State. Idle Florida A&M remained second, only seven points ahead of San Diego State.

Defending national champion Wittenberg fell from third to ninth after losing to Akron, 18-0. Others in the Top Ten were

10. Northern Michigan, fourth; Middle Tennessee, No. 5; Maine, No. 6; Los Angeles State, seventh; Kentucky State, eighth; and Arkansas State, No. 10.

On paper, the Bengals have superior manpower, size and speed, but these advantages favored Missouri in 1963 and Missouri comes into this game with a 2-1 record, having belted Oklahoma State and Minnesota after dropping its Kentucky opener. K-State is winless in three tries—roughed up by Indiana, Brigham Young and Colorado. The Cats have scored just 10 points in three games.

In Big 8 Action

Texans Will Meet In MU, Kansas State Grid Battle

COLUMBIA, MO., Oct. 8 — (Special) — Like the mongoose and the cobra, a couple of transplanted Texans are cast as mortal enemies in the 51st Missouri-Kansas State football renewal here Saturday afternoon, deep in the heart of Memorial Stadium.

Unless Coach Doug Weaver of K-State changes his attack pattern drastically, quarterback Vic Castillo will be flinging the football often in the Tigers' sunken arena. Injuries to key running backs have dictated a complete reliance on the passing arm of this 174-pound rookie from San Antonio, Texas.

Lurking in the blue-grass will be Johnny Roland of Ol' Mizzou, a defensive ball-hawk who won all-America prep honors as a running back in Corpus Christi, Tex., schoolboy circles. Roland, a 207-pound senior, teams with Ken Boston and "Skip" Grossnickle in M.U.'s three-deep secondary.

Last Saturday at Minneapolis, Roland patrolled his defensive beat so expertly that he was teammate Gary Lane's top challenger for Back-of-the-week plaudits. His play elicited this salute from Gopher Coach Murray Warmath:

"Johnny Roland is the best defensive back I've seen in a long, long time."

The 6-2 halfback intercepted one of John Hankinson's passes, broke up several others — and punished sore-ribbed Minnesota receivers with smashing tackles. Picked as a fourth-round future in the professional football draft last winter by the St. Louis Cardinals, "J.R." — as his teammates know him — is off-and-running in his bid for all-America defensive recognition.

He'll be radar-ing Castillo's pegs here Saturday, and Wildcat pass-catchers had better check their shock-absorbers.

Missouri comes into this game with a 2-1 record, having belted Oklahoma State and Minnesota after dropping its Kentucky opener. K-State is winless in three tries—roughed up by Indiana, Brigham Young and Colorado. The Cats have scored just 10 points in three games.

1964 when spunky K-State fought the odds to hang uncomfortably close. It was 21-11 two years ago here, and 7-0 last year, only because a Wildcat back bungled his fourth-down plunge from the 1.

These two close calls illustrate Weaver's ability to fathom the offensive and defensive thinking of his old boss, Dan Devine, and plan accordingly. Doug served as Devine's top assistant at M. U. in 1958 and 1959, while his current No. 1 lieutenant, Johnny Kadlec, was on the Mizzou staff under Don Faurot.

For K-State, end Bill Matan—all-league last year—and Willie Jones, his tackle sidekick, are the top defenders, burdened with the task of halting M.U.'s balanced attack. Missouri's backfield has Lane, Charlie Brown, Monroe Phelps and Carl Reese — with big Earl Denny again battle-ready. In reserve are Gary Kombrink, sophomore quarterback; Ray Thorpe, left half; and Barry Lischner, fullback.

Coach Devine never has lost to Kansas State in seven previous encounters. Last Wildcat victory over Mizzou was at Broyles' expense, 23-21, in 1957. A Band and Parents Day turnout of 49,000 is forecast.

KICKOFF: 1:30 p.m. (CST) at Memorial Stadium, Columbia. Offensive formations: Kansas State—Split backfield with flanker right or left; Missouri — Wing T, unbalanced line.

Frank Broyles and Devine. This year, though, a balanced Mizzou attack figures to complicate Weaver's defensive blueprints. . . . And the Tigers, defensively, especially that all-veteran secondary, could be a tough hurdle for the Cats to surmount. Mizzou's line rush, led by Ron Snyder and Russ Washington, has been fiercer every game.

Classics Headline Schedule

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two football attractions with all the glitter of a World Series — the Texas-Oklahoma and Notre Dame-Army classics — headline Saturday's college schedule and the nationally ranked Longhorns and Irish are counting on their heavy hitters to carry the day.

Texas, rated No. 1 in the country after reeling off three straight victories, is a top-heavy favorite to whip the winless Sooners for the eighth consecutive time in their annual rivalry at Dallas. But Texas Coach Darrell Royal, a former Sooners quarterback, anticipates plenty of what he calls "that old Oklahoma fire."

Saturday night at New York the subway alumni will be out in force for the renewal of the Army-Notre Dame series after a six-year lag. The seventh-ranked Irish are favored by a couple of touchdowns but Army's defensive arsenal may prove formidable.

Several other traditional rivals collide in the fourth week of the season. Among the national leaders, Arkansas, ranked No. 3, is at Baylor for a Southwest Conference clash and Michigan State, No. 5, continues its Big Ten drive against defending conference champion Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Nebraska, Purdue, Southern California and Florida, meanwhile, risk their high standing against rugged opposition. The second-ranked Cornhuskers, 3-0, meet Wisconsin; Purdue, No. 6, tangles with Big Ten rival Iowa; the Trojans, No. 8, visit Washington's hulking Huskies and the Gators, No. 10, are at Mississippi. Purdue and USC are 2-0-1, Florida 2-1.

Georgia, which has ridden upsets of Alabama and Michigan to a 3-0 mark and the No. 4 spot, entertains Clemson and the other member of The Associated Press' Top Ten, ninth-rated Mississippi State, also 3-0, plays host to ambitious Southern Mississippi.

Among the major sectional tests Saturday are Pittsburgh-Duke, Oregon State-Northernwestern, Villanova-Washington State and Syracuse-UCLA. The latter two are night games.

Mules Cross Country Team To See Action

Central Missouri State's cross country team will run against Lincoln University's squad in a 11 a.m. meet Saturday at Jefferson City.

The Mules lost their first two meets of the season. Running for CMS Saturday will be Ron Merrick, Glenn Thompson, Don Spindel, Bill Dryer, Terry Cotter, Don Beal, Larry Niel, and Ron Taylor.

Scholarship Awards for 28 By Gamble-Skogmo Firm

Twenty-eight B. C. Gamble Scholarship Awards will be presented at the end of the current school year, Bertin C. Gamble, chairman of the board of Gamble-Skogmo, Inc., which operates the Tempo store here, announced today.

This year's 28 awards, an increase of six over last year, will bring the total number of winners to 169, sharing $47,750

No Special Program On Next Week

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It may be deliberate programming to get the television audiences into new viewing habits or it may be a coincidence, but there is not one special program on the network horizon for the next seven days.

Any added interest in viewing can only come from the guest stars appearing in the assorted variety programs.

Lena Horne will make one of her occasional appearances Sunday night on NBC's Telephone Hour (6:30-7:30 EDT), in company with Gordon Macrae and Florence Henderson. Kate Smith, another infrequent visitor, will sing on CBS' Ed Sullivan Hour (8-9).

George Maharis, pretty much of a TV stranger since he left "Route 66" will turn up as the "Hullabaloo" host on NBC Monday evening (7:30-8) while Bob Hope will visit the network's "Andy Williams Show" later that evening (9-10).

Danny Kaye, on CBS Wednesday (10-11) has Benny Goodman and band.

NBC's "Dean Martin Show" will present a young rock 'n' roll trio on Thursday (10-11 p.m.). It is called "Dino, Desi and Billy," and any family resemblance between two of the musicians to Dean (Dino) Martin and Desi Arnaz is not exactly accidental. Martin's guest stars will be Pearl Bailey and George Gobel.

Christian Service In Aya Sofya

IZNIK, Turkey (AP) — For the first time in 700 years, Christian services have been held in the basilica of Aya Sofya in the ancient birthplace of the Nicene Creed.

The services were suggested by the Moslem Turks, who hope that Iznik — the Nicaea of old — will be declared a place of pilgrimage by Pope Paul VI.

More than 200 pilgrims attended the Roman Catholic services conducted by Father Superior P. Angelo M. Beghetto of San Antonio church of Istanbul during the Iznik grape harvest festival.

It was in 325 A.D. that the Nicene Creed — a simple statement that defined the nature of Christ — was given to the world at the first Ecumenical Council.

In 725, the seventh Ecumenical Council met in the basilica of Hagia Sophia — which means Holy Wisdom in Greek and is written Aya Sofya in Turkish.

In 1330, the Ottoman Turks captured Nicaea, whose importance was only slightly less than that of Constantinople — Istanbul — itself. The Turks turned the basilica into a mosque. Later it became a museum.

This Anatolian town, about 60 miles southeast of Istanbul, was a scene of excitement during the three-day grape festival in late September.

On the final day of the festival, the music was stilled as Father Angelo, who comes from Padua, Italy, looked out into the roofless basilica at the faithful, pilgrims from Britain, Spain, Italy, France and Turkey.

He spoke of gratitude and men and women lifted their voices in song. Communion, at last, was received.

After the service, the priest shook hands with the governor, the mayor and other town dignitaries.

When the visitors left, the Turks pressed boxes of grapes on them in a show of friendship. Iznik had not seen in seven centuries.

in awards since the inception of the plan in 1958-59. The current 1965-66 scholarships, each worth $350, will go to 28 high school seniors graduating in June 1966. Scholarship winners may use the funds for any course of study at any accredited college or university.

All who qualify for the awards must demonstrate outstanding ability in salesmanship, either through high school programs or part-time jobs, as well as acceptable scholastic aptitude during their senior year. Mr. Gamble emphasized in announcing the scholarship program for the seventh consecutive year.

"Our annual scholarship awards are meant to encourage ambitious young people who demonstrate interest in a career in salesmanship," he said. "We consider the program a long-range investment in the growth of America's vital business community."

"We hope to help promising students obtain the training necessary to meet the demands of a sales career. Letters from many past award winners have indicated that without financial assistance college education might have been impossible."

"One said, 'Before I received this scholarship I had no hope of attending college this fall. Thanks to you my wish has been fulfilled.'"

"Another wrote, 'This scholarship award opens the door for a better and brighter future for me, and I hope for other students in years to come.'"

"Actually," said Mr. Gamble, "these ambitious young people have opened their own doors. They would not have received scholarships if they had not earned them."

During a sales contest during the month of October, stores in 23 states will compete for the right to award one of the 28 scholarships. The highest percentage of sales increase over their October quotas determines the winners.

"Sedalia has more than enough students qualified for an award, and we're going to do our best to win one this year," said Kermit Lange, manager of the local Tempo store. "We share Mr. Gamble's interest in young people and salesmanship. It's a great pleasure to participate in his fine scholarship program."

Lange emphasized that absolutely no purchase or registration is necessary to qualify for the award.

Selection of the high school senior to win each scholarship will be made by a committee consisting of school faculty members. The families of employees of Gamble-Skogmo, its subsidiaries or its advertising agency are not eligible.

Wait for Politicians To Begin Campaign

LEMONT, Ill. (AP) — Mrs. Harry Fleming has a big beef with buck-passing bureaucrats over a dead cow.

Mrs. Fleming and her husband found the animal's body Sunday morning. It apparently had been hit by a car.

The Chicago Board of Health referred the matter to its dead-animal removal section.

The dead-animal removal people said since the cow was out of Chicago it was out of their hands. They said to call the Cook County Board of Health. The board said to write a letter, or call the sheriff's office. The sheriff's police said call the county highway department. The highway department said call the state police.

The state police said it was none of their business.

"I'm just waiting for some of these politicians to come around and ask me to vote," said Mrs. Fleming.

Graduation Present

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP)—Raymond Scherer, named valedictorian of his high school class, got a graduation present Wednesday. He was granted parole by the Wyoming Board of Pardons and Parole after leading his class at the State Penitentiary high school.

Scherer, 34, of Lead, S.D., was sentenced to life eight years ago as a habitual criminal. The sentence was later reduced to from 4½ to 50 years.

Atom Smasher Site Race Now Enters Critical Stage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission says the job of picking the finalists in the Great Atom-Smasher Site Race has now reached the critical stage.

Borrowing a phrase from astronaut lingo, an AEC spokesman also says that from now on, the "go or no-go criteria" for staying in the race will get progressively tougher.

It's obvious that the AEC, and the White House, still have a politically fierce tiger by the tail as the contest goes on for locating the $348-million 200-billion electron volt-BEV-machine.

A modest elimination contest already has been staged—with the results announced only recently after months of study by the AEC of 126 proposals, involving more than 200 locations, from 46 states.

But 85 semifinalists, representing 43 states, still remain in the running to land what Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., has termed "the 200 BEV bonanza—the government's biggest free offer to all comers since opening the Cherokee Strip to homesteaders in 1893."

A rich payoff in payrolls and prestige would come to the community landing the prize. And the contenders want it so badly that the majority of them have offered free land to the government—for example, a $10-million lure of this type offered by the State of Indiana.

Rep. Hosmer, a member of the joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, criticized the agency the day the commission formally announced its admittedly modest whittling-down of the contest entrants.

Hosmer asserted that the commission's recent action—leaving 43 states still in the fight—constituted "an inept attempt to keep its political skirts clean."

Criticism of the AEC also came quickly from a key Democrat on the joint committee—Sen. Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico.

Asserting that the present list of 85 represents "not a very good scaling down" by the AEC from the original entrants, Anderson said:

"I think it will do a lot to destroy confidence in the project."

Remaining silent to such judgments, the AEC says that in the months ahead, stiffer criteria than those used so far by the commission itself will be applied to the contest survivors by a special committee of the National Academy of Sciences.

The NAS committee is supposed to weed out all but five or six of the 85 contenders—after which the AEC, presumably with White House concurrence, will pick the final winner.

"But the AEC is by no means handing over the whole thing to the academy," says Dr. Paul McDaniel, the AEC's director of research, who supervised the initial handling of the "bids" and prepared them for AEC study.

"We'll stay with the ball all along, he told a reporter, indicating that the full commission, as well as his own staff, would huddle periodically with the NAS group, and exchange views.

In announcing the list of 85 survivors to date, the AEC said all of them seemed to meet the basic criteria established by the commission for a desirable site.

These criteria call for a site that would:

1. Contain at least 3,000 acres owned by, or reasonably available to, the U.S. government;
2. Have the potential of delivering a firm electric power load of several hundred million watts, and a minimum of 2,000 gallons a minute of high quality water;
3. Be reasonably close to a commercial and industrial center which includes research and development activities;
4. Be reasonably close to communities having adequate housing, cultural and educational facilities for some 2,300 scientific and technical personnel and their families; and
5. Be close to adequate surface transportation systems and a major airport with frequent service to major U.S. cities.

McDaniel makes plain that the AEC has not dreamed up some brand-new major criteria to guide the national academy in its evaluation job.

Without saying whether he thought the AEC let politics enter its initial evaluation of the proposed sites, McDaniel said the academy committee "will of course not put political emphasis on the subject. I'm sure they won't have national politics involved."

And the committee, he said, is expected to get down to cases on the "trade-offs" and compromises between technical and other factors that will become necessary in gauging the merits or demerits of a given area.

For example, McDaniel indicated:

—A given area might have relatively high electric power rates, yet be graced with land

Best Seller Author Likes Sudden Fame

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How to enjoy success without being captured by it: that's the problem met and apparently conquered by John La Carre.

That is not really his name. He uses the pseudonym on his books, which include last year's sensational best-seller "The Spy Who Came In From the Cold" and the current "The Looking-Glass War."

His real name is David Cornwell; he is 34, sandy-haired and well spoken, a former civil servant in the British Foreign Service. His literary alias and the convincing detail of his novels of intrigue have convinced some of the more literal-minded that he is a spy.

A television interviewer so accused him during his visit here. Cornwell's reply: "If I wrote a book about prostitutes, it wouldn't necessarily follow that I ran a brothel."

The author is subjected to such badinage during a three-week U.S. tour to promote his new book and, incidentally, the film of "The Spy Who Came In From the Cold." The trip is one of his few concessions to the immense success that threatened to overwhelm his life and career during the past year.

Two years ago he was a Foreign Service employee in Hamburg earning about $6,000 a year. Today he is an international celebrity, incorporated and capable of amassing huge sums — the paperback rights to "Looking-Glass" drew $400,000.

"As far as the money aspect is concerned, I set up the machinery to take care of it — and now I live in ignorance of what goes on," Cornwell explained.

Needless to say, his financial affairs are better managed than when he was a newcomer to the field of bigtime literary properties. "The Spy" was sold to Paramount for $35,000.

That seemed like a fortune at the time, since it amounted to three and a half times his annual salary. But the sum appeared less appropriate when he learned that Richard Burton was to receive $750,000 plus 10 per cent of the gross for enacting Cornwell's tale.

Returned To Jail

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — William Tabor, 22, who fled the county jail in May, returned to the building almost daily but not to finish his one-year sentence for forgery.

Tabor, taken back into custody, told authorities he kept going back to wash the jail windows. It was part of his job with a Milwaukee cleaning firm.

Sheriff's deputies caught up to Tabor after an anonymous tip. They found him at home.

Clara Bow Leaves $20,000 Estate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Clara Bow left an estate exceeding $20,000 but also had established a trust fund of more substantial proportions, says her attorney.

Miss Bow died Sept. 27. She was 59.

Atty. Howard B. Henshey, who filed her will for probate Wednesday, said her personal belongings and mementos of her silent-movie career were bequeathed to her sons, Rex. A. Beldam, 30, of Reno, Nev., and George Frances Beldam, 27, of Las Vegas, Nev.

Henshey said the will specified that the remainder of the estate was to be sold and the money added to a trust fund created for Miss Bow's benefit in 1929. Henshey said although the will did not name the sons as beneficiaries of the trust fund, he assumed they would be.

HOLLYWOOD—Denny Miller, who has the distinction of having been the 13th Tarzan in "Tarzan The Ape Man," gets a "trim" from Debbie the Chimp during a break on the set of the new new NBC-TV comedy, "Mona McClusky." Looking on is Denny's co-star, actress Juliet Prowse. He portrays an Air Force sergeant whose actress wife makes 10 times the salary in one week than he does in a month. (UPI)

Recreational Area Go-Ahead Is Urged

Red Hints Of Peace Are Probed

Peking Concerned With US Buildup In Asian Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration is probing all Communist hints of interest in Vietnamese peace, but officials now see no hope of getting the Reds to the negotiating table this year.

An earlier belief among Washington policy makers that the end of the monsoon season in Viet Nam could bring the beginning of peace talks has collapsed for lack of support.

State Department authorities reported Thursday that even though the military situation has been going against the Viet Cong guerrillas and North Viet Nam there have been no real overtures from Hanoi, public or secret.

Reports reaching Washington from Eastern European Communist sources say Red China is becoming alarmed at the U.S. military buildup in Viet Nam.

These reports are taken seriously here. They are subject to the interpretation the Red Chinese might be interested in encouraging North Viet Nam to make peace, but actually all signs point the other way, indicating that the Chinese are encouraging the North Vietnamese to continue the war.

The latest maneuver of the diplomatic front, which stirred wide interest at the United Nations, was a speech by Hungarian Foreign Minister Janos Peter declaring that U.S. talk about peace has no value whatever until what he called U.S. aggression against North Viet Nam is stopped. He said U.S. air strikes against the North must be stopped. He reported he spoke with the knowledge of Communist leaders in Hanoi.

State Department press officer Marshall Wright commented: "I will reiterate the U.S. position continues to be one of willingness to enter into talks regarding the situation in Viet Nam without any condition. "We are not aware of any change in North Viet Nam's position."

Peter and Secretary of State Dean Rusk arranged to meet in New York and there was no doubt, U.S. officials said, that the United States was trying to determine whether there is any give in the Communist position.

The Communists have repeatedly denounced U.S. bombing raids on North Viet Nam as a barrier to peace. Rusk has countered with a public offer to consider stopping the attacks if the Reds will say what happens then. Hanoi has never been willing to say.

Welfare Pay In Slight August Dip

September welfare payments dipped $517.72 compared to August, with only one category showing an increase, it was announced Thursday.

Total welfare expenditures in the county, said Mrs. Neva F. Hell, director of the Pettis County Welfare Office, totaled $106,998.46 during September.

Included in this total were payments totalling $146 for dental care, $2,046.01 for drugs, and $57 for child welfare.

Old age assistance payments decreased by $43.04 in September, totalling $74,516.45 paid to 1,198 recipients.

Aid to dependent children last month amounted to $13,231, down $624, paid to 155 persons for 434 children.

General relief payments also decreased, by $38, with a total of $5,248 paid to 90 persons. Aid to the blind and blind pensions were down by $75 with $3,525 paid to 47 people.

The only category showing an increase was total disability, which soared $355 to a total of $8,229 paid to 122 recipients, Mrs. Hell said.

State Officials Express Interest In Development

State officials have expressed interest in a Sedalia-Pettis County proposed water recreational project and urge a local go ahead on formulation of plans, the Board of Public Works was told Wednesday night at their regular monthly meeting.

W. H. Bunn, Melvin Jones and Paul Hedderich reported on the outcome of a meeting in Jefferson City Wednesday morning with William Towell, director of the Missouri Conservation Commission, who is also head of Governor Warren Hearnes' outdoor recreation program.

Grants Stay Of Execution For Anderson

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Circuit Judge Sam C. Blair Thursday granted an indefinite stay of execution, after a sanity hearing, for condemned killer Ruben Anderson. Anderson had been scheduled to die in the penitentiary gas chamber Oct. 22.

Blair acted after two psychiatrists and three prison officials unanimously testified they felt the young Negro was not sane. Corrections Director Fred K. Wilkinson, Associate Warden William P. Steinhauser and guard Sgt. Nathan Hendley added their impressions after months of observing Anderson at close quarters.

Anderson appeared unconcerned with the proceedings. Blair noted that the testimony of the psychiatrists and the prison officials was unanimous that Anderson was mentally ill. He said that forced him to grant the execution stay.

"If I didn't do it," Blair said, "I would be substituting my judgment for that of men whom I know are telling the truth."

Anderson was convicted of being the ringleader in a plot to kill an aged religious picture salesman, Antony J. Schlader, and stuffing his lifeless body in a furnace. The crime occurred March 19, 1962 in St. Louis.

Anderson's companions in the crime were Pinky Lee White, then 18, and Willie Reed Jr., then 19. Reed pleaded guilty to charges of murder and armed robbery and drew two life sentences. White was convicted of stealing Schlader's car and was sentenced to eight years in prison.

Plans Approved

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The main committee of Parliament has approved Foreign Ministry plans to contribute 10 Austrian officers to serve at U.N. request as cease-fire observers in the India-Pakistan conflict.

Plans Water Project

LONDON (AP) — Britain, sharing worldwide worries over future fresh water supplies, plans a $24-million project starting next year to pump well water into the Thames and tributaries.

Bunn, a works board member and chairman of the Lions Club committee, was instrumental in arranging the discussion meeting with Towell at the commission's new headquarters building. Others attending included judges of the County Court, C. Berry Elliott, E. L. Birdsong and C. M. Purchase, Water Department manager Herb Taylor, and Lions members, C. J. (Neil) Chapman, Charles Maggard and Russell Rhoads.

Jones displayed an eight-foot color map of the proposed recreation area drawn by his son based on a Springfork Creek reservoir originally conceived by Black & Veatch, consulting engineers, as a future water supply source for the city of Sedalia.

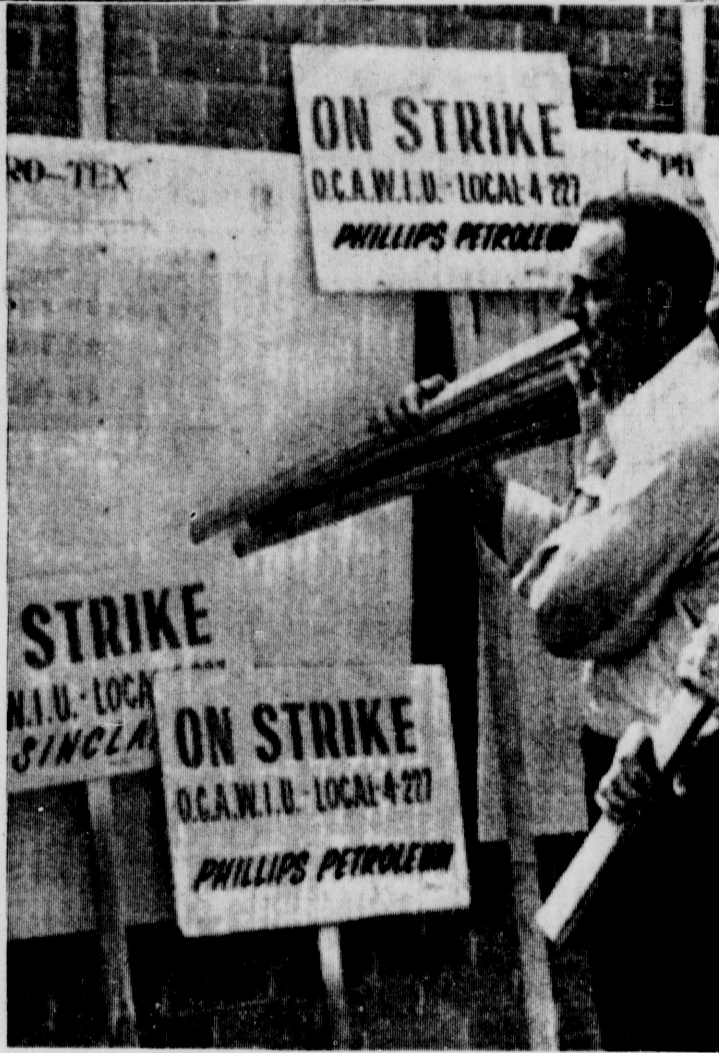

The ambitious 3,500 acre recreational project would include the 900 acre reservoir as well as additional area for bridle paths, picnicking and camping sites.

Lions Club members were urged into exploratory efforts on the recreational project after Water Board members earlier this year had attended the governor's Outdoor Recreation Conference and learned that federal funds were available on a matching basis, but that the effort should come on a county level. They then arranged the Wednesday meeting for county judges to discuss outside assistance sources on such a project.

Jones said Towell and an assistant urged the local officials to proceed in formulating a program, preparation of an application and then gear for steps toward acquiring land.

The envisioned area lies south of the Community Center Road between that road and Route V along Springfork Creek, with a 55-foot earthen and concrete core dam approximately 1,000 feet in length to be located a short distance south of the Water Department's present No. 13 well. All of the proposed recreational area is north of the present Springfork Lake, which is formed by Cheese Creek.

"I know of no other project which could be of more value to Sedalia and the county," (Please turn to Page 10, Col. 3)

HOUSTON — Some oil refineries were cutting back their operations Thursday in anticipation of a strike by the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union (OCAW). Midnight Deadline

Negotiations To Avert Oil Strike

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Last-minute negotiations centering along the Gulf Coast and in California took place Thursday to avert a strike which threatens to idle 90,000 oil workers and move the nation toward its worst strike year since 1959.

A deadline of midnight, local time, has been set by the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International, AFL-CIO, for a walkout of its 40,000 members to support demands for a 5 per cent wage increase. The oil workers are asking a minimum boost of 15 cents an hour for low-paid workers. Average salary for the industry is $3.30 an hour.

The union's strength is centered in refineries, where a major shutdown could idle other workers in the industry.

"We are neither optimistic nor pessimistic," a union spokesman said. "Of course, we will try for a settlement right up to the deadline."

A. F. Grospron, new president of the union said at its Denver headquarters, "If we go out, we'll all go out together." Negotiations, however, are being conducted by locals on an individual basis.

If a general walkout develops it would be the first nationwide oil refinery strike since 1952. Union headquarters said company offers include increases of 4 per cent and there have been some offers of 5 per cent for a two-year contract, rather than the one-year which the union has demanded.

Grospron referred to companies making the latter offer as "trying to buy two years' time for a one-year price."

Reports reaching union headquarters indicated that some refineries continued to operate at

LBJ In Whirlwind Day Before Surgery

Receives Get-Well Wishes; Inks Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, deluged with get-well wishes from the mighty and humble, swept through another whirlwind day Thursday as the hour drew near for his date with the surgeon.

After a busy round of ceremonies and speeches, Johnson's day was to end in a hospital bed. Sometime Friday morning, surgeons will remove his faulty gall bladder at Bethesda Naval Hospital in nearby Maryland.

Johnson seemed a bit testy about reports he is out to prove that he is no porters who hustled to folksick man. He chided re-lay him on a short, rainy-day walk outside the White House.

"Just want to take a little walk and get some exercise without your drawing any conclusions on why I'm doing it," said Johnson, strolling the White House driveway with presidential aide Jack Valenti. "Will you please go back?"

Johnson opened his business day by signing legislation to help rural communities build water and sewerage facilities. "If we allow our small towns and villages to die on the vine," said the President, "something good and something essential to the America that we know and love is going to die along with them."

Republican Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont sponsored the measure, and Johnson said it is a sample of what the outnumbered GOP should be seeking.

"I do want both parties to be strong, virile, healthy, imaginative, positive and affirmative," he said. "It might be an example for Republicans if they would just try to recommit everything and really stand for something positive."

Johnson also had signing ceremonies for a pair of routine presidential proclamations, one designating Oct. 15 as White Cane Safety Day, the other choosing Oct. 20 as the Annual Day of Prayer.

After he signed the first proclamation, asking that Americans show a little extra concern for blind people who carry white canes, one guest called out:

"Mr. President, my best wishes for tomorrow and God bless you."

Johnson received what he called "a nice cable" from Pope Paul VI, with whom he conferred Monday in New York. That was a day before his coming surgery was announced.

The White House said evangelist Billy Graham called the President Tuesday.

Park Service Study On Landmark

Congressman William J. Randall, Fourth Missouri District Representative, Thursday advised The Democrat-Capital the Department of the Interior has informed him that officials of the National Park Service are to begin a study of a request for a national landmark for Sedalia.

The Democrat-Capital initiated a request to Rep. Randall a few weeks ago regarding such a designation for the city in recognition of Sedalia's contributions to American music and particularly to honor Scott Joplin who sired ragtime here in 1894.

Considerable material substantiating Sedalia's claim as the point of origin of ragtime was furnished Rep. Randall who forwarded the material last week to the Interior Department.

Additional research is currently underway to provide further evidence that might be required in gaining for the city a national landmark designation.

18 Viet Cong Killed

US Forces Into Qui Nhon Fight

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. forces have entered the fighting around Qui Nhon and killed 18 Viet Cong, a U.S. spokesman announced Thursday.

U. S. paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Brigade combed rice fields just north of the coastal city in central Viet Nam Wednesday and killed 17 guerrillas, the spokesman said.

The U. S. Army's 1st Cavalry Division also was reported in action in Qui Nhon area, killing one Viet Cong and detaining two suspects about 10 miles west of the town.

It was the first direct entry of U.S. troops into the continuing fighting between the Vietnamese army's 22nd Division and elements of four Communist regiments north of Qui Nhon. The Reds there have suffered heavy casualties in several major battles in the last two weeks along Highway No. 1 and around the Phu Cu Pass.

Meanwhile, the rest of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division began arriving in Viet Nam to swell the total number of American troops in the embattled country to more than 140,000.

In Washington, the Defense Department disputed Peking's claim that a U.S. Air Force jet was shot down over Communist China Tuesday.

The South Vietnamese army claimed its forces killed 13 Viet Cong in one operation in Vinh Binh Province, 75 miles south of Saigon. Enemy action during the past 24 hours was reported sparse in comparison with the series of battalion-size attacks in the Mekong Delta and along the central coast earlier in the week.

The U.S. spokesman said the paratroopers operating north of Qui Nhon Wednesday picked up 54 Viet Cong porters, all of them over military age, and 10 suspects. One of the bearers led the Americans to 10 tons of hidden rice.

The spokesman said American casualties in the operation were light. No casualties were reported by the air cavalry troops west of Qui Nhon.

The spokesman said U.S. and Vietnamese planes flew 198 sorties against suspected Viet Cong concentrations in South Viet Nam in the past 24 hours. More than half were in the 3rd Corps area surrounding Saigon.

The carrier Oriskany sent 16 Skyraider bombers on missions over North Viet Nam during the night. The spokesman said army barracks 65 miles south of Hanoi were among the targets destroyed.

Other U.S. planes loosed 880,000 propaganda leaflets over the Gulf of Tonkin for wind currents to carry them over the Red River delta east of Hanoi, the spokesman said.

Brothers Die Trying To Rescue Kin

Believed Brother And Sister Were In Burning Home

OGDEN, Utah, (AP) — Farrell Maw fought back tears as he told how his two young sons died trying to save their sister and baby brother from an exploding fire that roared through their home.

"They died doing their duty," he said. Maw said his sons Kevin, 10, and Gregory, 7, bolted back into the burning house after he rescued them from their basement bedroom.

He said the boys had been told to check the baby's crib and their sister's room if the house ever caught fire.

Kevin died next to the baby's crib. Gregory's body was found face down on his sister's bed with the covers pulled over his head.

The boys' sister, Debbie, 11, had led the baby, Bryce, 3, and two other brothers, Jeffrey, 6, and Phillip, 4, out of the burning building moments earlier.

The fire left only parts of walls and the roof of the Maw home Wednesday. Fire Chief Clyde L. Peterson estimated damage at several thousand dollars.

Maw said the fire started in a sleeping bag on a basement couch. Fire Marshal Robert G. Penton said it might have been ignited by a hot lightbulb nearby.

Debbie said she was awakened by a temperature-controlled fire alarm in the Maws' home.

"I did just what they (her parents) told me to do in case of a fire," she said. "First I telephoned grandpa. Then I got Bryce, Phillip and Jeff and led them out of the house."

Their grandfather, Ted Tyree, met the children at the door. Their father and mother arrived seconds later from a 30-mile trip to Salt Lake City with friends.

Debbie tried to lead her grandfather back into the house for Kevin and Gregory. He pushed her back out.

Her father crawled down basement stairs to the boys' bedroom. "They were in bed," he said. "I grabbed them both and went right through the basement's outside door with one of the kids in each arm. I guess I kicked it off its hinges."

"We thought the baby was still in there. But then we saw he was safe in his mother's arms."

"We turned around and Kevin and Gregory were gone."

"They were told to get the baby out of bed and see about their sister if there ever was a fire."

"They bolted back into the house. The fire exploded about the time the two little fellows reached the upstairs bedroom."

Absentee Voting Adds Edge For Somerville

Republican Ronald L. Somerville, of Chillicothe, increased his winning edge over Dick B. Dale, Democratic candidate, as counting of absentee ballots cast in Tuesday's special 16th Senatorial District election was completed here Thursday.

Somerville received 95 absentee votes, while Dale had 21. In winning the senate vacancy, Somerville had carried Pettis County by 48 votes — 1,045 to 997 — in the regular voting Tuesday.

Counting the absentee ballots Thursday in the office of County Clerk J. H. Green were these judges: Mrs. Leo Greene and Val Clark, Democrats; Mrs. H. Waters, Republicans.

Missouri Men Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department Thursday identified a Marine and 12 soldiers killed in action in Viet Nam.

The Army men included: Spec. 4 Jesse R. Hughes Jr., son of Mrs. Dorothy A. Parker, Bloomfield, Mo.

Spec. 4 Roger L. Hubbard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil L. Hubbard, Cameron, Mo.

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's doctors pronounced him in "excellent health" Thursday and said the operation to remove his gall bladder would start at 7:30 a. m. Friday. Shown here, left to right, Dr. J. Willis Hurst; Dr. James C. Cain; Bill Moyers, White House press secretary; and Dr. George A. Hallenbeck, who will perform the operation. Not shown is Vice Adm. Crooks Always With Us

It happens too often.

Elderly people are easily duped by fast-talking swindlers. This week there was the story of a woman in Kansas City who had been bilked of $900. Some weeks later a man posing as a detective came to her home and produced a picture of what he termed was a suspect. Was that the man? Yes, the very same person, the woman exclaimed looking at the picture. The so-called detective then persuaded the woman to set a trap for the fellow if she would obtain several thousands of dollars from her bank as a lure to get him to come back. So she went to the bank, withdrew the sum and gave it to the man. You guessed it. She was stuck again.

Nothing like that could happen in Sedalia? Or could it?

Some months ago a suave, handsome young man came to town selling some product or other, maybe magazines. He was very choosy with prospects, mostly women, who somehow he knew had money in the bank. This stranger had an oily tongue comparable to a foot long hot dog sold at the state fair. He explained that he was only selling from door to door to make enough money to pay for an education through college or a seminary. He wanted to be a preacher in the particular church which his listener attended. During preliminary conversation he had wormed this out of his prospect.

No one will ever know how much money this sneaky one took out of town but he got plenty in his persuasive mission of making everyone feel so sorry for him but so delighted to encourage a young man with such unselfish ambition to prepare himself for the clergy.

One never knows what devious approaches these crooks will make.

The latest and meanest racket hatched is in connection with the new Medicare program. Confidence men have been appearing in various parts of the country fleecing elderly people. These swindlers represent themselves as employees of the Social Security Administration saying they are authorized to sell health insurance in advance at a discount and to accept payment for it. The phony agent disappears with the premium and is never heard from again.

Elderly persons on social security are cautioned to decline discussions with these tricksters. Social security representatives do not charge or accept fees for helping any citizen. Anyone brazen enough or crooked enough to try it can be checked out easily by contacting the Social Security Administration office, 1806 West 11th street, Sedalia.

Registration for Medicare costs no money and no "field agents" will call to sign up senior citizens. Those who are presently receiving social security benefits will get an enrollment card in the mail before next July 1. Others should enroll in person at the nearest Social Security office.

Those who are duped by crooked "agents" may later discover they are not properly registered and therefore ineligible for benefits.

Senior citizens are urged to be cautious with whom they transact business whether it be in the area of social security or helping a handsome but crooked young fellow pay his way through a seminary. GHS

State Socialism Expensive In Africa

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Drew Pearson today reports on one of the would-be socialist republics of Africa.)

By DREW PEARSON

ACCRA, GHANA — The University of Pennsylvania can be proud of the heads of state whom it has helped to train, including President Makarios of Cyprus and President Azikiwe of Nigeria. Staid Philadelphians might debate whether to be proud of my onetime career as a Penn instructor. But undebatable is the reputation earned by Kwame Nkrumah, president of the African republic of Ghana, for being the sourest oddball ever to attend the university founded by Benjamin Franklin.

Nkrumah calls himself "Osagyefo" which means "son of God," though sometimes he varies it with "redeemer." And he acts as if he considered himself both. He has built some 100 statues of himself in various parts of Ghana, almost as many as those built to himself by Joe Stalin.

And for a long time Nkrumah cherished the ambition to be head of Pan-Africa or a United States of Africa. The basic idea was good, because many African republics are too weak to stand alone and in the early days of African independence, Nkrumah acquired quite a following.

When he began not only introducing so-

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Henry A. Wallace, vice-presidential nominee on the Democratic ticket, former secretary of agriculture, spoke to a large audience on the Pettis county court house square. Ernest C. Martin, president of the Young Democratic club, opened the meeting. Samuel P. Harlan, Democratic county chairman, introduced Lawrence McDaniell, St. Louis, gubernatorial candidate, who in turn presented Mr. Wallace. Preceding the introductions Lloyd Knox of Smithton, sang "God Bless America." Kroencke's band gave a concert. Accompanying Mr. Wallace from Jefferson City were Mayor Julian Bagby and Fred Wesner, city counselor and candidate for state senator.

FORTY YEARS AGO

George U. Freund, of Warsaw, Mo., was appointed a state bank examiner by C. E. French, finance commissioner of Missouri, to succeed J. D. Freund, of Sedalia, who resigned. The new examiner is an uncle of his predecessor. He has been assistant cashier of the Osage Valley Bank of Warsaw.

Promising Results From Heart Operations

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Two years ago my husband, then 42, had a heart attack. After 4 or 5 months he was allowed to return to work. Recently he had another more serious attack. Why didn't they operate and put in a pacemaker?

A—While the electronic pacemaker is a life-saver in persons with chronic heart block, heart block is not always present in persons with a coronary heart attack. When it is present it usually clears up in 10 to 14 days without treatment.

Although the treatment of heart attacks is still medical, an operative procedure has been tried on a series of 260 persons with hardening of the coronary arteries. This operation is still experimental. It consists of tying off the internal mammary artery, the artery that supplies the sac surrounding the heart and some of the ribs, thus allowing more of the blood sent to that region to reach the heart muscle. In this series the results were promising. Although the operation is relatively simple it has not yet been widely used.

Even more recently a much more complicated operation has been devised for some victims of a heart attack whose coronary obstruction is in a favorable location. The obstruction is located, removed, and replaced with a graft from a vein. Although the reported results are good it is too soon to tell what the chances of a recurrence are. Furthermore, it must be emphasized that not all victims of a heart attack can be helped by these two operations.

Q—What are the symptoms of congestive heart failure? Is it serious? At what stage do they prescribe digitalis? Why is ACTH harmful if you have failure?

A—When there is a leak in one of the heart valves the heart must work harder to pump the blood to your tissues. When the point is reached that your heart can no longer do this effectively it is said to be decompensated and congestive (waterlogging) heart failure occurs. The victim becomes short of breath on mild exertion and the liver is enlarged. This is a very serious condition but modern heart surgery is saving many victims.

Digitalis is prescribed at the first sign of decompensation. Persons with heart failure should not take ACTH or any of the cortisone-like drugs because they cause retention of fluid in the tissues and this aggravates the water-logging.

Autumn's Reign

First touch of fall is in the air
When winter and summer seem to share—
Or maybe fuss about the day
With each one wanting it their way;
Says winter: "Time now you are gone."
Summer replies, "I'm hanging on."
So winter gets its freeze box out
To scatter chilling air about—
And people bundle up real fast
Then listen to the frost forecast—
Dig up the bulbs and cover flowers
Between very chilly showers
They look their winter garments o'er
And then go down and buy some more,
All types of things for heat they buy
Or turn the thermostat up high—
Strangely, too, they look about
To see if Christmas gifts are out—
For startled now—you hear them say
"Christmas is just three months away—"
But summer doesn't seem inclined
To leave hot weather clear behind,
It puts a polish on the sun
As if the summer's just begun,
Or makes the air a muggy warm
Threatening with a thunder storm,
It turns the heat on with a force,
We shed our heavy coats, of course,
Turn off the furnace—open the door,
Maybe have air-conditioning once more,
But autumn—always bright and gay—
Stands ready in its saucy way
To referee the fight between
Old winter's dead brown and summer's green,
"Now I'll step in—you silly two—
"No winter yet—and summer's through—
"I'll give the weather people love
"With vivid blue sky up above,
"The brilliant coloring to the trees
"For I'm the season that can please,
"With air that gives a lot of pep
"And puts a briskness in one's step—
"Get on—you two—and leave me free
"That everyone can enjoy me—"
And so the summer slips away,
The winter waits until his day
And as both now step aside
Autumn takes the reins with pride—
Sprinkles the world with golden light
And paints its picture of real delight.

Communion for the World

By RALPH W. LOWE, D.D.

On any Sunday of the year, Christian people gather to worship, to read the Scriptures and to share in the Sacraments of the church. On the first Sunday of October they are conscious of the world-wide observance as well as the local witness. As light makes its way around the planet, and men and women in varying cultures and continents greet a new day, there are those who assemble for worship. If it's ironic to talk of "World Communion Sunday" in a world so concerned with angers and wars, it is also heartening to know that this minority continues to gather to worship.

This is why the fact of the sacrament is impressive. It talks of communion with God and asserts that this fellowship has something to do with the world in which men live. It's a tough assignment if it's done honestly by people and their clergy.

Langdon Gilkey phrases the question, "How are we to talk of God's rule over our history when Birmingham is so stubborn, Chicago's ghetto so crushing and Dallas so utterly meaningless? How can we speak to this age of God?" It puts any honest man into tension.

That's World Communion Sunday, 1965. As each little company of believers gathers, worshipping in a thousand different languages, participating in a multiplicity of ceremonies in the common meal of bread and wine, there is a local and provincial event. Multiply that in terms of the peoples of a planet and it has worldwide significance.

The bread and wine are brought into those churches, and what happens in that worship must be carried out from those churches. The importance of the local moment of forgiveness, repentance and love is valid as it sends people of reconciliation into the tough situations of our day.

A television commentator recently asked an official of NASA whether an ordinary citizen, suddenly placed in a capsule of an earth-orbiting satellite, would be able to survive. The official thought that he might but he also was certain that he'd be frightened and speechless.

In a very real sense, we're all subjected to these quick snatches from the ordinary and called upon to do the extraordinary. We're frightened and speechless.

It is strengthening to know that here and there, as the sunlight reaches into one country after another, there are those men and women who are literally "different" because they've knelt together. They're better equipped to meet the sins and needs of today. Basically, this is the hope and the prayer that sweeps around a planet on World Communion Sunday.

Two and a half year old Jon got out his cowboy hat, his holster and his gun.

"You're a rootin' tootin' cowboy, aren't you Jon?" someone watching him asked.

"No," replied Jon.

Thinking he did not understand, she repeated the question: "You're a rootin' tootin' cowboy, aren't you Jon?"

"No," the small boy answered again.

"Well, why aren't you?" the woman wanted to know.

"No cow," said the child. And what better answer could he have. How could he be a cowboy if there wasn't any cow?—H. L.

Closing Consulates

Block Manufactures Provide Material for a Growing Sedalia

RAW MATERIAL—Materials for making the Haydite blocks is hauled in by rail, then stored in a covered bin until it is used up. The particular sand needed is brought in from east-central Missouri. Above, Rolla Otten loads a wheelbarrow, which will be pushed to the mixer and dumper, along with cement, chat and water. (Democrat-Capitol photos)

CAREFUL — Extreme care must be taken at this point, to prevent the wet block from falling apart. The mixture is carried to the forming machine, poured in, vibrated until the block is semi-solid. Then the form is turned upside down and the wet block is left on the board held by John Bruehl. A slight jarring movement would leave the block on the floor in a mess of wet debris.

Many Forms, Ingredients In Product

By RALPH JONES

The building block, in one of its many forms, is a basic item in all building construction associated with the expansion encountered in and around any growing city.

Sedalia is a growing city, and the production of building materials such as building blocks in the city is one of the reasons the growth and expansion of the city is possible.

The building block is made in many forms and contains many different ingredients, compounded to suit the needs of the builder, and is produced by several different firms in Sedalia.

For the purpose of spotlighting the production of basic building materials in Sedalia, and to illustrate the production of one special type of material, the Haydite Block plant at 1326 West Main, formerly owned by the Cramer-Schrader Block & Brick Co. but recently purchased by the Howard Ready-Mix Concrete Co., was selected.

The Haydite block is preferred by many builders because it is only about half as heavy as a concrete block, yet nearly as strong. It is made up of sand, chat, cement and a moisture-resistant agent. In production the blocks are vibrated, power-tamped and steam-cured. They can be painted or will hold any of the numerous finishes preferred by builders, at little extra cost.

Production of the blocks involves both labor and machinery.

The sand and other raw materials are hauled in by rail and stored at the plant until time for use. As the material is needed, it must be hauled into the plant by wheel barrow. The cement sacks must be opened by hand and the contents dumped into the mixer by hand.

The materials are mixed by machinery, and the mixture is carried to the casting machine by conveyor belt. The machine automatically casts, tamps and vibrates the block, but when it is finished, it is lifted off the machine by hand and placed on a rack, which is pushed into the steam-curing kilns by hand. The blocks are removed from the kiln on racks by hand and un-

MIXER—The raw materials are pushed to this point by hand, then dumped into the mixer. The proper proportions of sand, chat, cement and water, along with a moisture-preventing agent, are placed in the mixer at this point, mixed, then carried to the forming machine by the conveyor belt just back of Rolla Otten. Otten has been doing this job for about five years.

FINISHED—After about 30 days in the curing kiln the blocks are hauled out onto the yard and placed in stock. Above, John Bruehl, left,

Rosalind Russell Survives Golden Era

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) In the golden era, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot was bedazzled by such stars as Jean Harlow, Norma Shearer, Myrna Loy, Hedy Lamarr, Joan Crawford and Rosalind Russell.

Only one is left — Roz Russell, swinging wilder than ever. She has survived Hollywood crises like a studio chief's nephew.

What's her secret?

"I count the money and never take myself seriously," says Roz. "I only take my work seriously."

At the moment, she is the Mom of "Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mama's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feelin' So Sad." Next she plays the role of a mother superior in "The Trouble With Angels."

Roz freely admits she was born in 1912, although she doesn't look it.

"I have never been afraid of age — or playing aged character parts," she says. "I have always welcomed character roles. Maybe that's because I'm such a character myself. I did 'Craig's Wife' when I was 23 — and she was a middle-aged woman."

"I have been told that I have abnormal energy," Roz says in a burst of understatement. "When I was a child in Waterbury, Conn., my mother would complain that I was loud, but my father would counter that I was the only one he could understand at the dinner table."

"Mother was right. I am loud — maybe because I was named for a steamship my folks once sailed on — the SS Rosalind."

Roz started her career playing characters.

"When I went to Marymount College in Tarrytown, N.Y., I played the part of St. Francis Xavier in the freshman class play. I even wore a beard and flagellated myself onstage. St. Francis Xavier was quite a rake before he became a saint — and I gave him a vigorous performance."

Then came "The Women," in

By the time she had done the lead in the senior class play, she knew she was hooked on the theater. But she had trouble breaking the news to her socialite mother.

"I told her I wanted to enroll at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts so that I could teach drama. I added the teaching bit after she raised her eyebrows during the first part of my statement."

Her first call to Hollywood came in 1934 from Universal Studios where they wanted to put her under a seven-year contract. Just before signing, she heard of a better part at MGM, the biggest and most glamorous of all the studios.

"I also had heard that Carl Laemmle Jr., who was running Universal, liked beautiful women. When I went in for the final contract talks, I made myself up to look like the sexless wonder of the world. I wasn't signed at Universal but I was at MGM."

In those days, every new actor or actress was signed as a threat to a star. It was one way the bosses had of keeping the big ones in line.

Roz was signed as a threat to Myrna Loy.

"I loused everything up," she recalls, "by becoming good friends with Myrna."

Then came "The Women," in 1939, the picture that really zoomed the Russell career. She gave such a vigorous performance that Paulette Goddard still has a slight scar on her leg from the famous fight scene where Roz bit her.

"And Paulette and I have always remained friends," says Roz, "in spite of the scar."

"The Women," not only gave Roz her biggest boost but was responsible for getting her the only husband she has ever had.

"I'm the only Hollywood husband who ever fell in love with his wife before I saw her in person," says producer Freddie Brisson. "I came across the Atlantic on a liner that had only one movie aboard. No matter where I went on that ship, it seemed I heard Roz' voice."

"Finally, I saw the movie myself and said I'm either going to marry that girl or kill her."

It was Cary Grant who introduced Brisson to Roz. "He proposed a number of times but I always put him off with: 'Never ask at night,'" Roz recalls.

"So one morning about 6 o'clock, he rang my doorbell, put a handkerchief on the floor and said: 'Is this early enough?' I accepted and have never regretted for a second since."

Roz has a remarkable sense of timing for her career. She did something like 23 straight movies where she was Hollywood's favorite female executive.

"I felt I had to get out of that office on the 49th floor of Rockefeller Center," says Roz. "So I hit the stage."

First she did "Bell, Book and Candle" on tour and then hit Broadway as the singing and dancing star of "Wonderful Town."

One critic described Roz' singing voice as reminiscent of "the Ambrose lightship calling to its mate."

But Roz' drive overshadowed her gangle — as she calls it — and she scored a great personal hit in the show.

Then came "Auntie Mame," a monument of theater. And a financial monument for Warner Bros. when Roz made the movie version. Only "My Fair Lady" is apt to break "Mame's" box-office record at the studio.

She doesn't know what's coming next — but it will be something.

"I know I wouldn't be happy unless I kept working. Maybe one of the reasons I've lasted is that I never once asked that I be the central love interest in a movie."

SMALLEST PRODUCT—Olen Howard, one of the firm's owners, examines one of the smallest products produced at the plant — a Haydite brick, which is used to fill in around corners or other places in Haydite block construction too small for the regular-size blocks to fit.

War Slang Kilroy Not In Viet Nam, No Sorrow About That

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Kilroy hasn't been to this war yet, but nobody in Viet Nam is sorry about that.

Each generation of warriors coins its own slang expressions and catch phrases.

"Kilroy was here" was the watchword of World War II. The strange device was painted on bombed-out buildings in Europe, scrawled in sand on the beaches of the South Pacific, and written in chalk on bombs and torpedoes, trucks and troop transports.

"Sorry about that" seems to be the main slang slogan to come out of the war in Viet Nam. Saigon bar girls sing it out in their high musical voices when a patron asks for a date.

Sergeants use it to tell privates why they can't have a pass or get out of guard duty. Captains say it to colonels in explaining why they couldn't hold a certain perimeter or why the Viet Cong got away. Even generals find themselves saying "sorry about that" when an operation fails or misfires or overruns the wrong village.

It's a mildly sarcastic expression, meaning the transgressor really isn't all that sorry, but there's a war and what can you do about it?

Most of the slang is the hap-hazard product of Oriental insubordination, the traditional GI penchant for conquering the language barrier with love and chocolate bars, and standard Pentagon military jargon.

Thus, a very pretty native girl, or a very fine Vietnamese officer, or a very efficient head waiter is "No. 1."

The very worst of anything or anybody in any category is automatically "No. 10."

When a No. 1 girl meets a No. 10 fellow, it's never kismet.

Here is a glossary of Vietnamese war slang, not all of it original with this war but all of it in common daily usage:

Goodies — Anything that arrives by convoy, supplies dropped by parachute, sometimes even bombs when directed at the enemy.

No sweat — No trouble at all, glad to oblige.

No joy — No contact with the enemy, just a long, long walk in the rice paddies.

He's something else — He defies description; usually used to denote admiration or at least awe.

Klicks — Kilometers. Getting short — My tour of duty is almost finished here.

Zapped — Killed in action, but popular usage also can carry less lethal meanings, as in getting drunk or finding an obliging soul mate.

Garbage feast — One of those elaborate Vietnamese dinners where the menu is apt to include everything from fricassee of python and roast dog to chicken heads supreme and barbecued rice-rat.

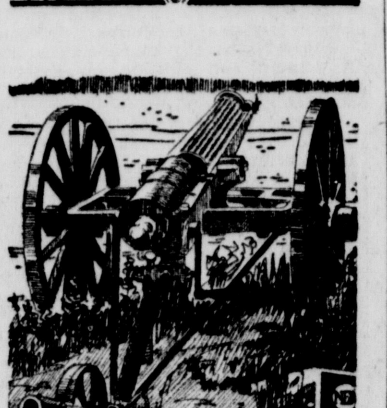

Find 17 Bodies

BETHUNE, France (AP) — The skeletons of 17 World War I German soldiers have been discovered near this town in northern France.

A workman on a bridge project noticed a pair of military boots protruding from an excavated area. A search uncovered the skeletons and a number of pointed German helmets. The soldiers had apparently been buried by an artillery burst.

Tests for Tires

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — New Jersey has adopted minimum performance requirements and standard tests for automobile tires, effective July 1, 1966. Tires which meet the prescribed standards will be identified by a mark.

Richard Jordan Gatling, inventor of the Gatling gun, the forerunner of the modern rapid-firing machine gun, also perfected a practical screw propeller for steamboats, only to find that a patent had been granted to Joseph Ericsson for a similar invention a few months earlier. In addition to the rapid-firing gun (350 shots per minute) Gatling invented a hemp-breaking machine and a steam plow.

Mixture Of Small Gains, Losses On Grain Futures Market

CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures market was a mixture of small gains and losses Thursday at the close of a generally slow trade.

Soybeans finished with fractional gains, wheat and rye with fractional losses and the feed grains narrowly mixed.

The moderate support for soybeans was credited largely to rainfall overnight which brokers said would again halt harvest in much of the major producing area and to light hedge selling.

QUALITY DEALER AWARD — The Bryant Motor Company is the recipient of Chrysler Motors Corporation Quality Dealer Award for the third year. Dan Robinson, (right) president, received the award Wednesday night from J. E. Mooney, assistant regional manager, Kansas City region, at an informal dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan, Walnut Hills. Mooney, in a brief address to the group, called attention to the fact that from the 250 dealers in the Kansas City region, only nine will receive the award for 1964. He was highly complimentary of the Bryant Motor's staff for having made the award possible based on the firm's administration, service, performance, community relations and facilities. Mooney was introduced by district manager Clark Roland. Host Ryan is vice-president at Bryant Motors.

Recreational

Jones said. "It would be of untold value in attracting industry and assuring a supplementary water supply."

While the project is still, in the main, on planning boards, a projection of costs would be premature and difficult to make, it was pointed out. Works Board chairman explained the Black and Veatch estimate several years ago for construction of the reservoir was approximately $14 million. This figure did not include additional acreage for recreation area, however, Federal matching funds are available for all local expenditures, though, and other sources of federal aid might be tapped.

In other routine board matters:

Water plant superintendent "Red" Heuerman reported a 90-gallon capacity steam cleaner, purchased by the board in September, has arrived and has been placed in service. Heuerman also reported an annual inspection of the department's laboratory testing facilities is scheduled Thursday by the state Division of Health.

Department manager Taylor reported the Sedalia department was one of 10 in the state to be presented a safety award in St. Joseph in late September by the Missouri section of the American Waterworks Association as a result of a safety record, which resulted in no loss of work time for employees.

Approved for purchase was a $1,350 automatic electro-rust proofing device for the elevated water storage tank on East Main Street. The electro-rust proofing process prevents rusting inside the tank and will replace a process in use now, which does not guarantee accuracy of the rust proofing.

A stockpile of 20,000 feet of three-quarter inch copper pipe was purchased at a price of 47.9 cents per foot. Manager Taylor explained copper pipe is now difficult to acquire and they located this pipe from a supplier while attending the waterworks association meeting at St. Joseph. The amount of pipe represents about a year's supply, Taylor said.

The amount of pipe represents about a year's supply, Taylor said.

Approved for purchase was a $1,350 automatic electro-rust proofing device for the elevated water storage tank on East Main Street. The electro-rust proofing process prevents rusting inside the tank and will replace a process in use now, which does not guarantee accuracy of the rust proofing.

A stockpile of 20,000 feet of three-quarter inch copper pipe was purchased at a price of 47.9 cents per foot. Manager Taylor explained copper pipe is now difficult to acquire and they located this pipe from a supplier while attending the waterworks association meeting at St. Joseph. The amount of pipe represents about a year's supply, Taylor said.
